Another Bank For B.C.

B.C.
Won't
Alter
Plans

B.C. government officials indicated yesterday the province will have a stake in the Bank of British Columbia regardless of how many competitive banks are launched.

Word of the Lauretude bank announcement reached Premier Bennett in the legislature and he later told reporters in a corridor that it won't alter the government's plans for the Bank of British Columbia.

NO EFFECT

He said the finance company banking venture would not qualify for government purchase of shares and that it would have had no effect on his government's plans if it had been announced earlier.

The Lauretude bank wasn't big enough for that, he said. Attorney-General Bonner, who Tuesday told the legislature he fully expected more banks to establish head offices in B.C., termed the Lauretude announcement "very welcome news."

FAST MATURING

"It is additional evidence of the fast-maturing nature of the British Columbia economy," he said.

"The emergence within a few months of three responsible banks, the Bank of Western Canada, Lauretude and the British Columbia Bank, is developing a western centre of finance and producing a Canadian financial polarity."

YEARS AGO

He compared what is happening in western Canadian banking to what happened years ago in the U.S.

Lauretude's plans, he said, are further evidence that the government had chosen an opportune moment to foster a western financial centre in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Lauretude Financial Corporation of Vancouver has submitted an application to Parliament for a charter to form the Lauretude Bank of Canada, president Peter Paul Saunders said Wednesday.

Mr. Saunders said that if Lauretude's application is approved the bank will have an authorized capital of at least $10,000,000. The company's assets at present are more than $300,000,000.

This is the third announcement of a new bank to be established in Canada. The others are the proposed Bank of B.C. announced by Premier Bennett and the Bank of Western Canada proposed by former Bank of Canada governor James Coyne.

Mr. Saunders said a notice of intention of the new bank will appear in Friday's Canada Gazette.

Express Train

Scrape For Chou

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI)—Chinese Premier Chou En-lai today narrowly escaped death when his car was nearly hit by an express train.

Chou, on the second day of his visit to Ceylon, was en route to the tomb of the late premier Solomon Bandaranaike 27 miles from here.

Five miles outside Colombo, the train disregarded signals and raced toward a grade crossing as Chou's motorcade approached.

As the motorcade was about to cross the tracks, a policeman saw the train coming and waved a red flag to halt the cars. Chou's car and the others in the motorcade braked sharply to a halt as the train thundered by.

Chou's hostess for the visit is Bandaranaike's widow, Mme. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, who succeeded her husband as premier.

Big Ship Listing In Storm

BREST (Reuters)—The 12,700-ton British tanker Stancloud is racing today to the aid of the 10,500-ton Greek vessel Vassilik in distress in heavy seas off Cape Finisterre on the French Atlantic coast, according to radio reports mentioned here.

The Vassilik Tuesday night reported here cargo had shifted and she was listing badly. The Liberian tanker Atlantic Lady was standing by the Greek vessel but could not give any other assistance until the weather improved.

Number Of Errors

This year's licence plates not a matched set?
Try getting together with A. O. Nyhus, 1463 Bromley. His don't match either.
Mr. Nyhus picked up his plates yesterday and, after he had attached No. 68-241 on the front of his car, he noticed the rear plate read 68-141—exactly 100 numbers out.
He plans to return his plates to the motor vehicles branch today.

Relief from Thumbscrew

B.C. TO POLICE MONEYLENDERS

By TERRY HAMMOND

B.C. moneylenders will be policed by the courts under sweeping legislation introduced by the provincial government yesterday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said in a corridor interview it is aimed at persons who apply "the thumbscrew."

The legislation will empower the courts to scrutinize, amend or reverse conditions of financial contracts where it is deemed the cost of a loan is excessive.

ALL FORMS

The legislation is expected to extend to all forms of loans, conditional sales contracts and instalment buying.

The way was cleared for such legislation when the Supreme Court of Canada recently upheld Ontario's Unconscionable Transactions Act.

RELIEF ACT

The B.C. law will be called the Contracts Relief Act.

It will be administered by county courts and by the B.C. Supreme Court.

The act establishes no fixed guidelines for the courts concerning what would be considered a fair cost for a loan and what would be considered excessive.

After hearing the conditions it will be up to the court to decide what is fair and what isn't.

ABOUT YEAR

Mr. Bonner said the act is patterned on the Ontario legislation and had been under consideration for about a year.

At the 1962 session of the legislature the opposition asked for legislation which would require full disclosure of all costs in any financial contract.

HARD TO DEFINE

Mr. Bonner said his government had rejected the full disclosure concept because it is difficult to define and because it rests on the legal principle of "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware.

It was better, he felt, "to give a person a remedy."

Under the new act, he continued, "a person in the business of applying the thumbscrew will realize that he can be brought up short."

RIGHT OF REVIEW

"What we are trying to do is give a right of review to someone who feels hard done by."

He said it would have been impossible to define limits for the cost of loans and admitted the act may turn out to be a real power for the courts.

DIFFICULT TASK

"I think, frankly, the courts will have a difficult task of adjudication," he said.

Judgments under the act will hinge on whether the court finds that "having regard to the risk and to all the circumstances, the cost of the loan is excessive and that the transaction is harsh and unconscionable."

If the court so finds, it can: ● Reopen the transaction and relieve the debtor of any sum in excess of what the court considers is fairly due.

Peace, Job Short Of Skills

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, said Wednesday the company can't get enough skilled workers for the Peace River power project.

"We have no requirement for laborers—we have a surplus of people with an education lower than high school graduation," he said.

Dr. Shrum said he expects the problem to get worse this year when Columbia River development and large projects in B.C. begin.

Red Talkers Split Over Split

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet and Chinese negotiators are meeting in Peking in search of a basis for opening talks on border problems, diplomatic sources said Wednesday. They indicated, however, there is a sharp disagreement already on how wide the talks should range.

'White Rabbit' 62

Nazi Wounds Kill One of Bravest

PARIS (Reuters)—RAF Wing-Commander Forest Yeo-Thomas, 62, one of the bravest and most famous of Britain's Second World War secret agents, died in his home here Tuesday. It was announced last night.

Yeo-Thomas lived in Paris before the war and parachuted into France three times, the first to help organize the resistance under his code name White Rabbit.

This name became the title of a 1952 best-selling book about his exploits.

Friends said he died from complications of injuries he suffered at the hands of the Gestapo. After his third secret jump into France, he was betrayed in Paris early in 1944.

For four days he was continually beaten, whipped, kicked and held in ice-cold water with arms and legs chained. For two months he was questioned daily. For four months he was in pitch-black solitary confinement.

Finally, Yeo-Thomas was sent to Buchenwald death camp "to be exterminated."

A German overseer marked him dead in exchange for a promise to testify on the German's behalf after the war. Yeo-Thomas took a Frenchman's identity and was sent to a Jewish death camp as a corpse-carrying assistant.

He and 20 others tried to escape; he and nine others made it.

Yeo-Thomas won many honors, including the George Cross, Military Cross and Croix de Guerre. He settled after the war in the city he loved best but had suffered greatly for 18 months until death came.

All 11 Socreds Expected To Save Grits Today

OTTAWA (UPI)—Social Credit leader Robert Thompson is expected to deliver unanimous voting support from his party today to help the Liberal government turn back its second no-confidence motion in 48 hours.

Thompson said last night he had not sounded out all 11 members of his party but felt confident the four who voted against the government Tuesday will not do so again.

By voting with the Tories, Dr. Guy Marcoux and three of his cohorts refuted charges the party sold out to the Liberals, Thompson said.

TWO MORE

Government whip James Walker, who pulled off some clever dealing to eke out a 128-120 win Tuesday, expects to have two more government members on hand this evening.

The main amendment is another Conservative motion condemning the government for failing to propose an extension of family allowances to children between 16 and 18 who are still attending school.

Dallas Double?

Oswald Wanted Nixon, Too

HOUSTON (UPI)—Lee Oswald plotted to kill former vice-president Richard Nixon, the Houston Post said last night. It had learned from an associate of Oswald's widow.

Reporter Jim Criswell quoted James Martin of Dallas, who was Mrs. Marina Oswald's business representative until a few days ago. The story said the plot against Nixon was outlined to the Warren commission investigating the Kennedy assassination.

Nixon was in Dallas the day the late president was killed.

Martin would not tell the Post how he learned of Oswald's intent to kill Nixon.

"It's part of the testimony," he said. "I can't comment on it."

Oswald also has been implicated in an attempt upon the life of former Maj.-Gen. Edwin Walker last April in Dallas.

Martin is to testify before the Warren commission today in Washington. He was dismissed by Mrs. Oswald a few days ago, reportedly upon the advice of Robert Oswald, brother of the accused assassin.

The Post did not outline when the alleged attempt upon Nixon's life had been planned by Oswald.

The Great Small Arms Caper

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The great small arms caper had at least three cabinet ministers tearing their hair Wednesday.

External Affairs Minister Martin lodged a strong protest with the defence department about removal of rifles from a Windsor, Ont., high school's sharpshooting champion cadet corps. Mr. Martin represents a Windsor riding in Parliament.

Defence Minister Hellyer and Associate Defence Minister Carlin were reported to have chewed out the military for listing Windsor as a "sensitive area" from which militia small arms should be removed.

In the Commons, Mr. Hellyer said his Friday order calling in small arms to prevent them from falling into the hands of the self-styled Quebec liberation army had not been applied uniformly.

Bravely trying to swim over the tide of opposition laughter, the minister said an "obvious anomaly" was the Windsor incident.

Another, he said, was failure to remove small arms from three college cadet corps in Quebec while rifles were being taken from exclusive Ashbury College for boys in exclusive Rockcliffe, an Ottawa suburb.

Mr. Hellyer said the "sensitive areas" included in his Friday order are Quebec and adjacent regions of Ontario and New Brunswick. (Windsor is about 350 road miles from Montreal.)

Warning to Queen Probed by Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Favreau said Wednesday he is trying to find out the exact words used by Dr. Marcel Chaput in a Toronto speech in which the Quebec separatist leader reportedly said the Queen won't be welcome in Quebec during her October visit.

Mr. Favreau was replying in the Commons to Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon), who asked whether criminal charges had been laid in connection with Dr. Chaput's statements.

Mr. Favreau said that if charges are to be laid it will be the responsibility of the provincial government.

Another Bank Bid

corporate experience in providing financial services on a national and international basis, Mr. Saunders said.

"We believe banking provides the opportunity for a logical and natural extension of our efforts to offer present customers and the Canadian public a more complete financial service," he said.

At present Laurentide offers diversified financial services through more than 200 branch offices located in Canada, the United Kingdom, the United States, the Bahamas and France.

"If our application is accepted, the bank will be national in character with its head office in Vancouver," said Mr. Saunders.

He said the corporation had been preparing for the move since 1960 when it adopted a policy of establishing new offices in street level locations.

Mr. Saunders said he will be president of the new bank and Andrew E. Faxton, of Vancouver, will be the executive vice-president. Mr. Faxton is executive vice-president of Laurentide Financial Corp.

THREE MONTHS

Mr. Saunders could not predict when the new bank would open for business but said it would be within three months after treasury board approval.

He explained that the process of obtaining a charter involves publishing notice of application in the Canada Gazette four successive weeks, filing a petition naming the bank, its provisional directors and head-office location then presenting the petition to parliament.

ONE YEAR

When the charter is granted the petitioners have one year to fulfill the conditions in the charter, to organize capital structure, set shares and to satisfy the treasury board conditions as met, he said.

Mr. Saunders said it is not yet determined but the bank may be established as a subsidiary of Laurentide Financial Corporation with the company the prime shareholder.

He said another alternative is to give present Laurentide shareholders a preferred opportunity to subscribe the capital.

Laurentide Growth Amazingly Rapid

Laurentide Financial Corporation Ltd. is one of the fastest growing lending firms on the North American continent. Formed in British Columbia in 1950, as Imperial Acceptance Corporation it has grown into a financial colossus with offshoots in the U.S., the Caribbean, and in Europe.

Sparkplug of the organization is Peter Paul Saunders, who came to Canada as an immigrant from Hungary. He is president.

BIG BUSINESS

Starting in a small way by providing consumer credit for purchase of automobiles and household appliances, Laurentide also does big business in industrial and personal loan fields.

The name was changed to Laurentide Financial Corporation from Imperial Investment Corporation Ltd. in 1961.

following acquisition of interests in California and Oregon. The company did not feel Imperial was a suitable name for operating in the U.S.

LARGE COMPANY

Control of Laurentide is now in the hands of one of Canada's largest holding companies, Power Corporation of Canada, which recently was at loggerheads with the B.C. government over the acquisition of B.C. Power Corporation.

Power Corporation was the largest single shareholder of the B.C. Power, and it opposed the method of the take-over by the B.C. government.

SOME OF MONEY

It is thus possible that some of the money which Power Corporation received for its B.C. Power shares from the B.C. government will be used to provide the capital for the proposed new bank.

Mr. Saunders said it is not yet determined but the bank may be established as a subsidiary of Laurentide Financial Corporation with the company the prime shareholder.

He said another alternative is to give present Laurentide shareholders a preferred opportunity to subscribe the capital.

● Disregard any settlement of account and reopen it to relieve the debtor of any amount in excess of what is deemed fair.

● Order the creditor to repay any excess of what is deemed fair.

● Set aside, revise or alter any security or agreement in respect of the sum loaned.

● Order a creditor to indemnify a debtor for any security disposed of in respect to an unconscionable transaction.

Courts can even initiate action under the new act in cases where a creditor has launched proceedings for the recovery of a loan or where there is an action concerning the amount due on a loan.

Debtors can seek relief under the act on a motion to the judge of a court.

The act defines the cost of a loan as the whole cost to a debtor including interest, discount, subscription, premium, dues, bonus, commission, brokerage fees and charges.

A debtor is defined as a person "to whom or on whose account money lent is advanced, and includes every surety and endorser or other person liable for repayment of the money lent."

A loan is defined as money advanced on account of any person in any transaction which is "substantially that of money-lending" and includes mortgages.

The act will go into effect as soon as it is passed. Passage would normally come at the end of the session.

Officials declined to say why Windsor had been included in the "sensitive areas" but informants said this was apparently decided by the chiefs of staff because of a French-speaking element there. Mr. Martin himself is French-speaking.

NEW DEFINITION One source said the "sensitive areas" outside Quebec likely will be redefined. The opposition in the Commons continued its drumfire of questions, especially concerning the army's removal of rifles from Ashbury at 12:45 a.m. Saturday.

HAD NO WARRANT Justice Minister Favreau said in reply to Opposition Leader Diefenbaker that the army did not have a warrant and that the RCMP did not intervene.

Mr. Diefenbaker asked by what authority the army entered the school at midnight "or is this simply lawlessness gone wild?"

REASON WHY Mr. Hellyer then reviewed the circumstances in detail and said action taken by the armed forces "was aimed at ensuring the security of all arms and ammunition in the minimum time possible."

An army unit from Kingston, Ont., was supposed to arrive at Ashbury at 9:30 p.m. but the truck broke down. Some of the vehicles acquired by the former Conservative government were not as reliable as they should be, he said.

Mr. Hellyer described as "ridiculous" the assertion of Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon) that the soldiers were trespassing at Ashbury.

Wallace Nesbitt (PC-Ontario) said the Woodstock, Ont., Collegiate Institute was visited by "emissaries of the army" Tuesday to remove ammunition.

SOME WEEKS He asked whether Woodstock is a sensitive and unreliable area and why the ammunition was taken but no rifles.

Mr. Hellyer said the army some weeks ago decided to reduce the amount of ammunition stored at some units.

He also said he would not care to give a precise definition of sensitive areas.

Diet, Watchful Care Answer To Woman's Diverticulosis

By JOSEPH MOLNER, MD

Dear Dr. Molner: I have diverticulosis. My doctor has put me on a limited, bland diet, and has prescribed medication.

The report, after my X-rays, said the diverticula were "innumerable, severe and widespread." This sounds to me like a serious condition.

I am by no means wealthy but I can travel elsewhere for treatment if there is any chance of a cure.

—MRS. U.J.N.

Your X-ray report does not indicate that you have any reason to become panicky.

Diverticulosis differs from diverticulitis. The former means an outward pouching of some tube or other in the body, usually of the digestive tract. The latter means that this pouching area has become inflamed.

If you have "innumerable, severe and widespread" diverticula, treat them kindly. Follow your bland diet. They may or may not cause you future trouble, such as surgery. I'm no soothsayer. Just a doctor.

All a doctor can do is tell you what might or might not occur, and advise you what to look out for, and what to do if trouble erupts.

Diverticulosis is such a common problem that people should find out the basic facts concerning it. In the majority of cases, only sensible and moderate precautions are required. Severe cases — with the "itis" instead of the "osis" — merit radical treatment.

BE CAREFUL

In your case, Mrs. U.J.N., because of your X-ray report, I'd be pretty careful. I'd follow diet or any other instructions. I'd know what to look out for. The rest of the time I'd relax.

I'd quit looking for a "cure." But even in a severe case, with knowledgeable following of medical instructions, you can keep it under control. Ignore it, and you are asking for trouble. To travel around hunting for a "cure" will be a waste of money.

Ruby Jury Total Rises to Eight

DALLAS (AP)—Two men and a woman were added Wednesday to Jack Ruby's murder trial jury, bringing the total sworn in to eight. A casual defence telephone call knocked off another candidate seemingly on the threshold of acceptance.

A jury panel of two women and six men of the 12 needed now is on hand to try the 32-year-old Ruby, operator of a Dallas strip tease club, for the shooting Nov. 24 of Harvey Oswald, accused assassin of President Kennedy.

FASTEN The trial began Feb. 17 before Judge Joe B. Brown, and has picked up speed this week after the defence was turned down in repeated efforts to have it transferred out of Dallas, arguing there was bias here against Ruby.

Before the trial recessed for the night, 14 prospective jurors were called, bringing the total for the last nine days to 94.

TWO MORE Latest jurors are R. J. Flechtner Jr., 29, dark-haired father of two children and a salesman for a paper company; Mrs. Gwen L. English, 45, a brunette bookkeeper married to a railroad electrician but childless, and J. G. Holton, Jr., 31, a timely, dark-haired mail carrier and father of three children.

POLICE RESERVE Holton was accepted although he is a member of the police reserve in a Dallas suburb. Earlier, another auxiliary policeman had been disqualified from jury duty.

Jimmie C. Braswell, 29, an engineer with a college education, was under examination when defence lawyer Joe Tamm left the courtroom. He said afterwards he was acquainted with a first cousin of Braswell living in Jasper, Tex., which is Tamm's home town. Tamm had telephoned the cousin, Bob Braswell, to ask about the candidate's qualifications and said he was told: "He's a good boy, Joe, but he guarded the Oswald home and he's an auxiliary policeman."

U.S. Taxpayers Get Biggest Cut

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson signed into law Wednesday night a tax cut for most individual U.S. taxpayers and corporations and proclaimed it "the single most important step we have taken to strengthen our economy since the Second World War."

SOON SIGNED Johnson acted on this biggest tax cut in U.S. history within a few hours after the Senate passed the measure, 74 to 19, ending its year-long, sometimes stormy voyage through Congress. It reduces taxes for 80,000,000 individuals by one-fifth, on the average, and for 550,000 corporations by about nine per cent starting with 1964 returns.

After the signing ceremony, Johnson spoke to the U.S. people in a hastily arranged television-radio broadcast, saying:

ABUNDANCE "We have made this bill an expression of faith in our system of free enterprise. . . . "If American enterprise responds to this new opportunity with increased investment and expansion — with new production and new products — with the creation of new jobs — then the tax cut will bring greater abundance to all Americans. Then the federal government will not have to do for the economy what the economy should do for itself."

Liberals Cause Threats

OTTAWA (CP) — Threats against the Queen "have been encouraged by such speeches as that of a Liberal member who said we must get rid of the foreign queen." Opposition Leader Diefenbaker said Wednesday night.

"I will not bring Her Majesty the Queen into this," Mr. Diefenbaker said during an address on the CBC program, The Nation's Business.

But "that kind of doctrine is not found in the Conservative party," he said. "Tinkering and playing around with the problem of race by this government has undermined Canadian unity."

Admiralty Name Reprieved

LONDON (AP)—A sentimental crusade to keep the old and honored name of the admiralty intact has logged a victory in the House of Lords.

Peers Tuesday night voted against a government proposal to redesignate the admiralty the navy board. They carried an amendment urging that the present name be retained by a vote of 65 to 57.

Said Lord Teynham, a Conservative peer and a former Royal Navy captain: "It will be a sorry day for England if the time-honored name of the admiralty is allowed to disappear into the limbo of forgotten things."

Twins' Stained Clothes Shown at Murder Trial

KAMLOOPS (CP) — The stained clothes of the slain Ring twins were shown to an all-male assize court jury Wednesday at the capital murder trial of Lawrence Herman Haase, 25.

RCMP Const. George Henry Croason said he presumed that stain on the clothing and other exhibits he presented were blood.

Haase, of Kelowna, is charged with the stabbing deaths of Donna and Dianna Ring, 14, whose beaten bodies were found near their Mable Lake resort home, about 60 miles north of Kelowna.

The bodies were found in dense brush Oct. 8, the day after they failed to return home from school.

Stumbling Blocks

WHATEVER FATE BEFALLS British Foreign Secretary R. A. Butler's nine-point disarmament proposals, it cannot be denied that they have already succeeded in reviving international interest in a problem which ultimately must be resolved by the major powers if world peace is truly the goal they seek.

The British plan goes much further than any previous ideas submitted by either the United States or the Soviet Union in that it not only embodies suggestions for the elimination of armaments but also envisages the establishment of a peace-keeping force under international control.

Briefly the salient points of the British submission were these:

- An improvement in the procedures followed by the protracted disarmament conference;
- The introduction of new methods to verify that nations carry out their disarmament pledges;
- The establishment of an international peace-keeping body under the jurisdiction of the United Nations;
- The setting up of observation posts in the rival NATO and Warsaw Pact areas;
- The initiation of a comprehensive nuclear test ban treaty;
- The banning of all further dissemination of nuclear weapons or knowledge;
- The increased use of nuclear energy for peaceful purposes;
- The institution of a "freeze" of strategic nuclear delivery vehicles;
- The physical destruction of some armaments.

Unquestionably Canada, as a minor nuclear nation, cannot do other than set her seal of approval upon all nine points. However, both the United States and Russia are likely to have strong reservations about one or more of the proposals, especially those sections which would, if put into effect, override the sovereignty of the participating powers.

Nevertheless it is not without the realm of possibility that these two powers could eventually reach some kind of compromise arrangement which could go far to reach the end goal of the Butler scheme.

Unfortunately, even if such an agreement or understanding could be initiated through the sincere desire of both nations for world peace, France and Communist China would still remain as stumbling blocks—a role both nations seem particular adept at assuming in recent years in almost any given circumstances.

Thus and unhappily it may well be that any practical move toward establishing world peace may be quashed through the selfish attitudes and national ambitions of two nations which are not even accepted today as major or responsible world powers.

Part-Time Prisoners

THE PROSPECTS of an opposition member's bill being passed in the legislature are never exceedingly bright, but the one introduced by Mr. David Barrett of the NDP providing for part-time release of prisoners from B.C. jails would appear to merit non-partisan approach and careful thought.

There are two main proposals in Mr. Barrett's bill. One is that persons sent to a provincial jail (for terms of less than two years) could be let out at the discretion of the warden during "necessary and reasonable hours" to work at their jobs, or care for their homes and families in the case of housewives, although they would completely lose their freedom at weekends. The other is that gainfully employed prisoners under this plan would have to pay for their room and board in jail, support their dependents, and meet other obligations.

There is little reason to doubt that this system would result in a considerable saving to the taxpayers of the province, in jail costs and in social welfare assistance to families deprived of breadwinners and to those who emerge jobless from serving their sentences. But economy of course is not the main object in Mr. Barrett's proposed legislation; it is a side attraction.

His point is that allowing a prisoner to maintain his employment and meet his family and community responsibilities while still paying a penalty for his wrongdoing would be of greater rehabilitative efficacy than straight incarceration; the almost-comfortable certainty of three meals a day and a bed while the outside world goes on its way.

This view may be at odds with the concept of deprivation of liberty being a strong deterrent to violation of the law, and perhaps Mr. Barrett glosses over some practical difficulties and complications. But his bill merits much better than the legislative brushoff that is the fate of many non-government measures.

Who Won?

BRITISH COLUMBIA residents who depended on CBC radio stations or affiliates to bring them the blow-by-blow account and description of the recent world heavyweight boxing championship bout may be forgiven if they ended up not knowing whether it was Cassius Clay or a well-known soft drink who emerged the victor of the fight.

The commercial spots in the broadcast were so frequent and so overpowering that the contest was made to take second place. If the tournament had been beamed over private radio stations there would be little cause to complain. But to have this nonsense rammed at the public over the facilities of a crown corporation so largely supported by Canadian tax dollars is altogether too much to countenance.

Mighty Thin

RIGHT Hon. J. G. Diefenbaker (Leader of the Opposition): I am not going to cover a variety of subjects today, Mr. Speaker; my colleagues will do that as they speak on the several matters of which they have particular knowledge. There have been all kinds of descriptions of this speech from the throne, but I think one of the best quotations which could be applied with regard to it are words used by Lincoln—and he has been dead 100 years—when he said:

As thin as the homophonic soup that was made by boiling the shadow of a pigeon that had been starved to death.

Thinking Aloud

"... of shoes, and ships, and sealing wax ..."

By TOM TAYLOR

IT is said that the least prudent of persons rush in where even angels might fear to tread. I avoid the use of the word "fools," for the poet who coined this dictum was being rather hard. Even a wise man nods sometimes.

I am wondering if perchance Mr. Pearson nodded when he promised to give Canada a new national flag.

He can't be faulted for lack of courage, however, even if now he could be excused for having second thoughts on the subject. This is a hot political potato dodged over many years by his predecessors, but then I don't think Mr. Pearson is at heart a politician.

That is why I doubt he will be conspicuously successful as a prime minister. He sacrificed his career in his own special metier, international diplomacy, for the sake of his party.

But give him due for sticking to his guns. He has renewed his pledge for action on the flag issue within two years of taking office.

One year has nearly gone, and a twelve-month from now the bicentennial-bicentennial report will probably be forthcoming to bedevil the flag situation. The B-B and the Red Ensign are two sides of the same coin.

To wit: The divergent heritages of the two "motherlands" Mr. Pearson mentioned not so long ago.

The choice of a flag, old or new, will be up to Parliament, Mr. Pearson says, which would seem obvious. The nation at large doesn't decide the details of national measures and millions of people can hardly spread all the proposed designs before them—and there are bound to be many, there were over 2,400 when last a prime minister toyed with the subject—and then pick their favorite.

Even a popular referendum on the question, which Mr. Pearson hasn't ruled out, would have to be limited to one or two alternatives.

As to that Parliament itself would be no better off if en masse the members had to choose, assuming even a "free" vote to let MPs follow their personal inclinations. A committee would have to whittle down the designs else the superfluity would baffle Parliament.

This is what happened in 1916, when a short list reduced the 2,400 submissions to two and then Mackenzie King decided that discretion was the better part of valor and left the Red Ensign in possession of the federal scene.

Quebec Liberals wouldn't support a design containing the Union Jack, and that was that.

A year hence Quebecois objection can be expected to be even more vehement, and vice versa for that matter. Mr. Pearson is likely to be between the devil and the deep blue sea; enough to make him bite his lips for being rash.

Yet he can scarcely back out now and his determination to settle this ancient and difficult quarrel has been stated anew in the Commons. If he pulls it off without a civil war I'll take back what I said about not being a successful prime minister.

I see that the Canadian Legion for one is launching an all-out campaign among its members to rouse support for the Red Ensign as its, without tampering or modification. And "English" Canada in considerable degree is likely to be of the same mind.

Contrariwise "French" Canada will be as fixed of purpose as it was in 1946.

So there will be a pretty kettle of fish for Mr. Pearson to ponder on.

A logical solution, and who knows but that Mr. Pearson has this at the back of his mind—he must be fully aware of all the sensibilities—would be to select a flag that had neither the Jack nor the fleur-de-lis on it. A neutral flag that doesn't take "heritage" sides but is distinctively separate.

Something of this kind seems desirable for national unity if a new flag has to be chosen.

But if this turns out to be so I hope some place can be kept for display of the Union Jack on symbolic occasions.

The British freighter Blairgowrie, battered by a hurricane, sank with loss of 28 lives 1,000 miles off Newfoundland in the main North American shipping lane 29 years ago today—in 1935.

The 3,250-ton freighter lost her steering gear and began to fill with water. One ship messenger: "Blairgowrie says she cannot last five minutes more. Lying right on side. Very rough seas coming aboard. Will hang on until the last."

Canada Should Help

Seeking a Solution in Cyprus

By HOWARD GREEN

Former Secretary of State for External Affairs

CYPRUS will continue to be in the headlines for some time—not only in Canada but also in papers all over the world—for the blood feud on this unhappy island between Greek and Turkish Cypriots poses new problems for the United Nations, the Commonwealth and the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

As a member of all three Canada is very likely to be involved directly in one way or another unless the trouble is settled quickly.

One reason for this is that our name stands high with both Greek and Turk whether in Cyprus or in their respective homelands and Canada would probably be one of the first nations they could agree on for participation in a peace-keeping force. In these days cars must be taken to see that troops sent into a country are acceptable to that country.

News dispatches give one the impression that the government of Cyprus would prefer to have Commonwealth forces and of course they called for British troops shortly after the trouble started. Today several thousand young Britons are on the spot and doing a nasty job exceedingly well—as one would have expected. In any event I doubt whether Cyprus will agree to forces from any non-Commonwealth nation of Africa or Asia.

Perhaps this is the reason the secretary-general of the United Nations—U Thant—suggested that the peace-keeping forces be chosen from Commonwealth countries and unnamed countries—meaning no doubt such countries as Sweden, Ireland, Yugoslavia and possibly certain Latin-American nations.

I expect the Cyprus problem will eventually be turned over to the United Nations. This is now almost standard procedure and as tension between the United States and the Soviet Union diminishes the United Nations will be relied on more and more to deal with disputes anywhere which might endanger the peace of the world.

If bringing about a settlement in Cyprus does become a United Nations responsibility Canada is almost certain to be one of the active participants in any peace-keeping operation.

The same is true if the job is undertaken as a Commonwealth project. Canada, as the senior member after Britain, would be expected to share in such a plan and could make an excellent contribution. Evidently the British are thinking along the same lines and their prime minister and foreign secretary even went so far as to indicate while in Ottawa recently that 1,000 Canadian troops would be very welcome.

There is a great deal to be said for having the Commonwealth assist in the negotiations between the Greek and Turkish Cypriots and in maintaining order pending a settlement.

Granted this would be a new type of Commonwealth activity but it would be a very useful one, provided always that the country in trouble requests the Commonwealth to act. Other members would be participating on the basis of helping a member of the family over a rough spot.

If this could be done successfully in Cyprus it would certainly strengthen the Commonwealth and in addition would keep the cold war completely out of the picture; both very desirable ends.

At the beginning of the trouble there were suggestions that forces from nations which belong to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization should go to Cyprus to keep the peace. The justification given for this proposal was that Greece and Turkey were involved as backers of their respective racial groups on the island; that they are respected and valuable members of the NATO alliance and that other NATO members would be in the best position to bring about a settlement.

There was merit in this idea but the government of Cyprus would not agree, probably fearing that if NATO stepped in the Russians would object violently and Cyprus might become one of the key trouble spots in the Cold War.

If by chance NATO does take part Canada will certainly be expected to provide forces. In any event the very possibility of war between Greece and Turkey—over Cyprus or any other question—is of vital interest to Canada. Such a war would be a delight to the Soviet Union and its friends and might well be fatal for NATO.

Greece and Turkey form the Eastern bastion of the NATO defence line against Communist aggression in Europe and the North Atlantic.

The people of both countries are courageous and have great traditions behind them; I need only recall the way the Greeks stood up to Italy and Germany in the last war and the centuries-long resistance by the Turks to the Russians.

I have attended ministerial meetings of NATO in both Istanbul and Athens and in each capital strong support for the alliance was evident on all sides. Conflict between the two nations would be a terrible tragedy.

I cannot believe that such conflict will be allowed to happen. Furthermore no nation wants a third world war to break out over events in Cyprus. Wise heads—and there are many of them—must be given the chance to work out a settlement. Canada could and should be one of the nations actively engaged in seeking a solution.

Canada's Name

In an editorial relative to the desire of persons in Quebec to have that province referred to as a "state" comment was made as to the word "dominion" as part of the title of our Canada.

The word "dominion" denotes a subject unit of a larger government, as it was during the times when Great Britain ruled a world-wide empire. This no longer applies, Canada now being an independent nation, subject to no other. Furthermore, reading the British North America Act (available in the public library), it will be noted that nowhere in that document will be found the title "Dominion of Canada."

In its opening clause it states: "The provinces ... shall form one dominion under the name Canada." The act makes reference several times to "The Government of Canada," "The Parliament of Canada," "The Great Seal of Canada," "The Statutes of Canada," "The Constitution of Canada," "The House of Commons of Canada," "The Senate of Canada," and the name Canada alone appears a score of times. In the light of this and of present-day conditions the word Dominion as part of the title of our free nation is not only superfluous it is not factual.

Beauty Spot

Referring to Victoria's scenery, we all agree against building a museum in Beacon Hill Park.

Island is a beauty spot. If transmitters are permitted on Trial Island, the golfers, the fishing enthusiasts, the strollers, as well as the residents, will be admiring steel instead of the mountains.

Also, transmitters are hazardous to birds, especially when flocks are formed before migration. It seems that the birds, beautiful but silly, fly into the transmitters.

During this coming summer, how can we hold up Victoria's image if we spoil the scenery and endanger the birds? I hope our slogan still is: "Follow the Birds to Victoria."

NEIGHBOR OF TRIAL.

Beacon Hill

O Beacon Hill from days gone by Beloved you are, don't ask us why?

Unless it be because you're there,
A bit of us for which we care!

Your winding road, your grassy slopes
Where all of us renew our hopes!

O Beacon Hill where we have walked
And we have stood and sat and talked;

Where flowers grow, a seagull cries—
Involute, your future lies!

Washington Calling

Confused Authority

By MARQUEE CHILDS

THE party out of power enjoys the luxury of telling the party in power how to run the world. Overthrow Castro, stand firm on the treaty of perpetuity in Panama, get tough in Viet Nam, these and other simple prescriptions come from Republican candidates in a campaign year.

They do not bear the awful burden of responsibility. It is a burden to which President Johnson, with only three months of experience in the office, has not yet adjusted. He is plagued in the conduct of foreign policy by the same confusion of lines of authority that troubled his predecessor, President Kennedy.

In his case there is an added complication. Two layers of authority exist in the White House. With two or three conspicuous exceptions the Kennedy advisers are still at work. Johnson has brought in his own people to work with them.

With the best will in the world—and little if any evidence of jealousy or rivalry has come to light—no one is sure where continuing authority rests. And it is scarcely an answer to say, as some of the president's ardent champions have, that he has made X number of telephone calls dealing with foreign policy, has talked with Secretary of State Dean Rusk for Y number of hours and has brooded for Z number of midnights on the crises before him.

Add to this the fact that the president is an intensely political animal. In a campaign year with only eight months until the election he would like to believe in a kind of moratorium on foreign policy with the tide of events held back abroad and criticism suspended at home.

One tendency, with the troubles in various corners of the world pressing harder, is to put up a new power structure. This was done for the conduct of Latin-American affairs as the riots in Panama exploded into the headlines.

The president appointed Thomas C. Mann, a career foreign service officer who had been ambassador to Mexico, to be assistant secretary for Latin America in the state department and at the same time to hold a special brief in the White House for dealing with all inter-American business. This arrangement has not worked as well as had been anticipated. The vital decisions have not been forthcoming. The new layer of authority has seemed to increase the volume of talk and the bulk of papers to be shifted from desk to desk. Panama is still in limbo.

For another even more crucial area—Viet Nam—the same treatment is in prospect. With no more than two to three months of grace before hair-raising either/or decisions—to pull back or go in deeper with American forces in an undeclared war—must be taken, a special authority has been created for Viet Nam. It has been moved out from under Assistant Secretary of State for Far Eastern Affairs Roger Hilsman who has endured a rugged buffeting in a well-nigh impossible office.

What, one may ask, is the role of the secretary of state in the new administration?

Rusk served President Kennedy well as builder and moulder for the archipelago of his way to keep Vice-President Johnson up to date on foreign policy and to guide him on his several foreign tours. In the transition it was said that Rusk would emerge as a new type of secretary of state asserting himself as he had not done before.

This has not happened. If only for reasons of temperament perhaps the modest and unassuming man who is secretary of state has not asserted a public presence, he has not discussed policy in broad new terms, he has not made the headlines that have in the past often originated in an office considered second only to that of the presidency. It would have been an abrupt transition which Rusk has apparently not elected to make.

In the White House McGeorge Bundy, the president's adviser on security affairs, was Kennedy's alter ego and when he spoke he was known to be speaking for the president. However hard they may both try, nothing like the same closeness could exist with the new president.

So the poles of power are still uncertain, which is hardly surprising. The grim historical fact might be noted that President Kennedy had been in office only three months when on the recommendation of advisers he had inherited the ill-fated Bay of Pigs invasion.

"I didn't mind Britain sending buses to Cuba ... but sending Beatles to us!"

The B.C. government has not lost sight of a heroic Lillooet doctor who broke his neck last year when he went to the aid of the victim of a mountain fall, Premier Bennett assured the legislature yesterday.

He said Dr. Nigel Clark, seriously injured on Mt. Drew early in 1961 when he went to the rescue of an injured trapper, is "an example of courage and a fine mental attitude."

FATHER OF FIVE

Dr. Clark, father of five, will suffer major paralysis for the rest of his life.

A cabinet committee had been watching Dr. Clark's case, the premier said. He understood Dr. Clark intended to find a position in which he could continue a useful specialized service, perhaps with the Workmen's Compensation Board.

PROPER POSITION

"I don't think at this stage he wants any government help, but a proper position," the premier told the House. "This government will do everything it can, to help him out, because he is an example of a man with courage and a fine mental attitude when he has had great difficulties."

Dr. Clark's case was brought before the legislature by David Barrett (NDP, Dewdney) who asked what B.C. would do to help a man who didn't stop to think of the risk to himself when a call came for help.

Workman Injured In Plunge

A workman suffered a broken leg in a fall from scaffolding yesterday at the federal forestry laboratory building under construction on Burnside Road.

O. Bortolazzo, 28, of Vancouver was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital by Saanich fire department ambulance.

Saanich police said the man was working on scaffolding when a steel bracket broke and he fell 22 feet to the ground.

Burglar Attacks, Robs Housewife

VANCOUVER (CP) — A 37-year-old housewife was raped and robbed by a burglar who invaded her home early Wednesday while her husband was out of the city on a business trip.

The woman, alone with two small children, told police her assailant, about 40, put a hood over her head and bound her hands before assaulting her and robbing her of $12. She said he was in the house for about three hours from 1:30 to 4:30 a.m. and ate and drank before leaving.

'Perfect Crime' Letter Sinatra Trial Bombshell

LOS ANGELES—The biggest bombshell of the Sinatra trial exploded yesterday: a letter signed by defendant Harry Korman in which he wrote he had plotted the kidnapping as a "perfect crime" to start him toward his goal of making a million.

Prosecutor Thomas Sheridan said the 700-word letter, found in a safety deposit box shared by Korman and rock 'n' roll singer Dean Torrence, was to go to Korman's relatives if the plot failed.

SAN JOSE, Calif.—Mary Hallenbeck, 21, of Blackwell, Okla., was charged with stabbing her husband to death with a carving knife on the fourth day of their honeymoon. Police said she was unable to give a coherent explanation.

TOKYO—Saburo Sakai, 47, was identified as the Japanese Zero pilot who almost shot down a B26 containing Lyndon Johnson during a 1942 air battle over New Guinea. Sakai said Johnson, then a reserve navy commander, "is a lucky man."

CALTANISSETTA, Sicily—Police put Giuseppe Genco Rossa, 71, an ailing and near-blind owner who is reputed king of the Sicilian mafia, on a train to begin his five-year, court-ordered exile at Loreto, a village in the Alps.

OTTAWA—Former Tory agriculture minister Alvin Hamilton has accepted an invitation to talk trade in Red China, from the China committee for the promotion of international trade.

VANCOUVER—The crown has decided William Rogers, jailed last year for five years for manslaughter, will go free. A new trial had been ordered for Rogers, sentenced in the mid road death of Vancouver Islander Mabel Bowen, but it will be dropped.

CHICAGO—Rudolph Valentino Clay, 20, younger brother of new boxing champ Cassius Clay, admitted he belongs to the Black Muslims, a black supremacy sect, and hinted Cassius may be a member.

ROME—The prosecution asked for a two-year jail term and $333 fine for actor Franco Silva, former fiancé of actress Anita Ekberg, on charges he tried to extort $80,000 from her. Court was told Silva became engaged to exploit Miss Ekberg for economic gain and increase his film reputation.

ATHENS—Doctors said Greek Queen Frederika, 47, is fully recovered from pneumonia while King Paul, 62, is making a normal recovery from a stomach ulcer operation.

SEATTLE—Inventor Dr. Edgar Falley sued the owners of Look magazine and a subsidiary of Eastman Kodak for $50,000,000, claiming publication of an example of three-dimensional photography hurt his business interests. He said he invented and patented a 3-D process in 1938.

LIVERPOOL—The post office set up a special department to handle 21st birthday mail for quiet Beatle George Harrison. Thousands of gifts from all parts of Britain included teddy bears, jelly beans, cakes, bottles of shampoo and combs.

PARIS—Communist Chinese charge d'affaires Sung Ch'uan-chang, 48, presented his credentials to Foreign Minister Maurice Couve de Murville, opening diplomatic relations between the two nations.

NEW YORK—Johnny Burke, 46, songwriter who won an Oscar for writing the lyrics to Swingin' on a Star, died in his sleep. Among Burke's other songs were "Fannie from Heaven," "Annie Doesn't Live Here Any More" and "Pachelbel's Dream."

EAST BERLIN—The supreme court of East Germany sentenced West German Herbert Muehs, 22, to life imprisonment with hard labor for planting bombs in public buildings in East Berlin last year.

Feud Costly

A feud between rival Interior timber interests cost one side $48,484 last year as a result of alleged blackmail tactics in timber sale bidding, the legislature's forest committee was told yesterday.

Details of the Interior situation were unfolded by Vancouver lawyer C. P. Daniels, who took possession of the Canada Evidence Act in delivering his testimony.

He had asked to have the committee—having held in camera but chairman Cyril Shefford (S.C., Omineca) said the affair was in the public interest.

The lawyer said the interests he represented had been forced to pay $48,484 over the government's upset prices on three 1963 timber sales rather than make a $100,000 out-of-court settlement over a lawsuit which he believes borders on being frivolous.

$42,000 IN BONDS

The lawsuit concerns contested ownership of $42,000 worth of bonds.

Mr. Daniels, acting for two Quenel companies owned by brothers Samuel, William and Henry Ketcham, said his principals are involved in the lawsuit with W. J. and Robin Swetnam of Vancouver. He testified that after the Swetnams had several times asked for an out-of-court settlement of the suit, a lawyer representing them advised him W. J. Swetnam was prepared to bid on every Ketcham timber sale in Williams Lake and Quenel areas if no settlement was reached.

Mr. Daniels told the committee that the Swetnams bid on three Ketcham sales last year, forcing his principals to pay the extra $48,484 to hang onto their timber quotas.

Nobody else bid against the Ketchams and the Swetnams had not bid on any other sales put up by other quota-holders in the area, he said.

He branded the present law governing quota sales as an open invitation for someone to put severe pressure on the quota-holder and he recommended that it be amended to make it an offence to obtain money by threatening to bid.

He also asked the bidding be restricted to operators holding quotas within an area and that the minister be given the power to reject any bid which he considers an offence against the act.

Liquor, Love And Teen-Agers

Teen-agers who drink increase their chances of becoming problem drinkers in later life. In March Reader's Digest read why liquor and sex are such "frequent bed-fellows". The tragedies that can result from teen-age drinking are revealed in an informative article—"Booze and You". Get your copy of Reader's Digest today.

Massey Makes A New High

Massey Ferguson, up to a new high of 18 1/2 on expectation of sharply increased earnings for the first quarter, and Denison Mines up 1/2 to 14 1/2 on a takeover bid by Power Corporation, were strong stock exchange favorites.

Mines were higher at Vancouver with Grandco at 4 1/2; Denison at 6 1/2 and Pesco at 1 1/2.

At New York both Dow Jones industrial and rail averages made new highs as the Senate passed the $11,500,000 tax cut bill, but the industrial average still failed to break and held the 800 mark—it closed at 799 3/8.

Yen for Some Shares?

Japan on Market

By HARRY YOUNG
(Colonist Business Editor)

Anyone around here with a yen for expanding his portfolio of shares by investing in Japanese securities?

I have just had a chat with the North American representative of one of Japan's large investment houses and he assures me there is a lot of merit in such diversification.

B.C. in Too Big a Hurry Resources Parley Told

If the goal of resource development was health, wealth and happiness for the people, it would well be questioned whether an adequate job was being done in B.C.'s resource development, Rev. R. M. Goodall told 150 delegates at the 15th B.C. Natural Resources Conference at the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"Resources are not ends in themselves," said Mr. Goodall, minister of the Sixth United Church, New Westminster. "They are simply a means of providing the good life for people."

Leave future generations to develop resources as they see fit, he said. "If we do not exploit and develop the natural resources we have today, tomorrow new technical and scientific discoveries may make these resources obsolete and of little technical value."

On the other hand, he said, there was the principle of balance. The wise man never completely exhausted all his savings. "Perhaps this is the approach which needs emphasizing since most of us are prone to sacrifice future interests for short-term gain," he said. "The problem which nags at my mind however, is this: Why, in this most favored of provinces is the health of the people in such jeopardy?"

B.C. had the highest rates of drug addiction, alcohol consumption, illegitimacy and divorce in Canada, said Mr. Goodall.

Too Much: "We are in too much of a hurry," he said. "Perhaps development tends to be too intensive. I would suggest we learn to accept the limitations of our nature and to realize that we thrive best when we adopt the long look at life."

Another speaker on the four-man afternoon panel was U.S. Consul General from Vancouver, Avery F. Peterson. He told delegates: "It was my first reaction and continues to be my conviction that population is the controlling factor in development."

"Limited effective access to population is the principal constructive factor in the development of B.C.'s resources and improvement of this access."

Mishap Victim 'Improving': Accident victim Mrs. Maude Bains of Otter Point was showing signs of improvement in St. Joseph's Hospital with a condition report of fairly good.

She was a passenger in her husband David's car when it went out of control on Jey Sorek Road at McKenzie Creek Bridge early Saturday, hit a power pole and overturned.

will contribute to human well-being."

Mr. Peterson said it was to be hoped that by ever-improved roads, waterways and facilities, greater numbers of tourists would have access to the "incomparable scenic and outdoor resources" of B.C.

"Lying between two states of the Union and possessed of sheltered water, forested beauty and abundant natural playground and sport facilities, it can be safely predicted that the tourist resource of the province—a non-wasting asset—is of as yet unrealized proportions."

Other speakers on the panel were E. C. Sims, regional vice-president of the Canadian Labor Congress, Vancouver, and Edward Benson, general manager of Pacific Press, Vancouver.

There is great scope for mineral and resource development in Canada," he said, "if the provinces afford proper encouragement. Ottawa, on the other hand, spends large sums of money without any consultation with the industry and substantial savings could be achieved in this direction."

Mr. Bradfield said that unless the "guilty party" provincial governments changed their attitude, there would result a series of inefficient, uneconomic units.

"Canada is approaching her centennial year in a more confused state than ever she has known since 1867," he said. "How can we expect to progress if we erect trade barriers between our provinces?"

Canada needed a common market within Canada he said. "Then we could consider the U.S., Japan, Europe and the rest of the Commonwealth," he said. "We cannot afford to be isolated provincially or nationally."

"We will die and stagnate if we can't hold our own in world markets."

Resources Parley Told:

Provinces Guilty

In many ways the federal government does more for the development of the mineral industry than the provincial governments, John Bradfield, president and chairman of Noranda Mines Ltd., Toronto, told the 15th B.C. Natural Resources Conference in the Empress Hotel yesterday.

"There is great scope for mineral and resource development in Canada," he said, "if the provinces afford proper encouragement. Ottawa, on the other hand, spends large sums of money without any consultation with the industry and substantial savings could be achieved in this direction."

What's the Reason For Park Cries?

The sudden burst of enthusiasm for "park development" from people not known for their interest in recreation or conservation, University of B.C. Prof. William Gibson said yesterday, forces him to ask the question: "Are these people interested in seeing what they can do for parks or in seeing what parks can do for them?"

Dr. Gibson, professor of the university's history of medicine and science faculty, was talking to around 130 delegates—scientists, forestry experts, mining industrialists and power officials—on the first day of the 15th B.C. Natural Resources Conference in the Empress Hotel.

B.C. was the envy of many parts of the world because of the great natural wealth it had, he said. There was a sense, however, in which the more discerning admirers wondered what the future of B.C. would be once the wealth was exhausted.

"They tend to look upon development as synonymous with destruction," said Dr. Gibson. "I think the wise British Columbian knows by now the day of the carthumper is gone."

PUBLIC INTEREST: "Any new act of our legislature, and any new local ordinance relating to parklands, will need all the teeth that can be put into it in the public interest."

"So-called resource development is seen to be no simple, technical problem, but rather one involving a conflict of interests as old as human life itself. I am appalled at the lack of public knowledge of the positive value of recreation."

Undeclared B.C. Rink At Least Sure of Tie

REGINA (CP) — Ina Hansen of Kimberley is compiling a record in women's curling which threatens that of Regina's Ernie Richardson in the men's Canadian final.

Surviving two tough games against leading challengers in the last two of yesterday's three rounds, Mrs. Hansen assured herself of no worse than a tie and ran her record in three successive Canadian finals to 24-2 with her fifth, sixth and seventh victories. The unbeaten B.C. rink is 7-0 and two games ahead of Alberta, Manitoba and unheralded Nova Scotia with two rounds left.

Commission Fully Satisfied Liston Had 'Honest Injury'

By JACK HAND

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The Miami Beach Boxing Commission announced Wednesday night it is completely satisfied that heavyweight Sonny Liston suffered an "honest injury" in his losing title fight with Cassius Clay.

RELEASE PURSE

Commission chairman Morris Klein said the promoters, William MacDonald and Chris Dundee, had been instructed to release Liston's purse. It was held up after the fight pending a report by medical examiners on the shoulder injury that caused Liston to surrender his title at the end of the sixth round.

"We are satisfied that there was no wrong-doing," Klein said, "and there is no further reason to hold up the purse." He said the medical reports and X-rays will be turned over today to state attorney Richard Gerstein, who wants a complete report on the medical examinations.

HAS NO COMPLAINTS

Gerstein said he had no complaints and no evidence that the Tuesday night fight was not completely regular, but said he just wanted to have the reports studied by official doctors to determine if there was any basis for action by his office. Klein was asked if the commission planned to look into reports that Clay received $50,000 before the fight from Inter-Continental Promotions, Inc., of which Liston is president and half owner.

"If we are shown any evidence that Inter-Continental owns both fighters, that's a horse of a different color," Klein said.

Up to now, he said, the commission knows nothing about it except what it reads in the papers.

EXPLANATION

Bob Nilon, a member of the Inter-Continental group, confirmed the payment. He said it gave the syndicate the right to select Clay's next opponent; the fight date and the date. One of Clay's advisers, William Faversham, said the opponent would have to be mutually acceptable to both sides.

RECEIVES PROTESTS

The commission received a dozen telegrams Wednesday from individuals in the U.S. protesting the fight and calling it "fake," "disgrace," and an event that "set boxing back 100 years."

Klein said the eight doctors who examined Liston were satisfied with his story that he threw a left hook in the first round, heard something snap, and then lost control of his arm.

FINE STANDS

Klein said the $2,500 fine slapped on Clay after his hysterical performance at the weigh-in still stands. Such fines are donated to the welfare fund of Miami Beach.

The bizarre ending of the fight still had tongues wagging after the doctors' report was made public.

Gerstein had asked the boxing commission for the records of the examination made in the morning at St. Francis Hospital.

BLAMES INJURY

Liston, carrying his left arm in a sling and wearing dark glasses that hid a patch under his left eye, returned to Convention Hall for a press conference in which he blamed his defeat on the injury.

"I felt something when I missed a punch in the first round," said the 30-year-old ex-champ. "From the first round on I fought with one hand. When I threw my left whole glove felt like it was full of water. When I raised my arm, it felt like I had lead in my glove."

Liston indicated strongly he would like a rematch although his personal physician, Dr. Robert Bennett of Detroit, said he would not be able to start training for at least two months.

ISSUE STATEMENT

The eight doctors who examined Liston for 3½ hours after the fight, at St. Francis Hospital, issued the following statement:

"Sonny Liston received an injury to the long head of the biceps tendon of his left shoulder with the result that there is a separation and tear of the muscle fibres with some hemorrhage into the inside belly of the biceps. This condition could be sufficient to incapacitate him and prevent him from defending himself."

Six stitches were taken in a wide, deep cut under Liston's left eye. He wore a patch over that Wednesday.

Clay was unmarked.

The fight was a financial fiasco for promoter MacDonald, the Miami sportsman who guaranteed a live gate of $625,000 and assumed promotional expenses that put his total liability at $800,000. A crowd of 8,279 paid only $402,000 to see the fight.

MacDonald figures to lose about $400,000.

The closed circuit television people, Theatre Network Television, Inc., said they had set a record of more than 500,000 paid and $3,320,000 in receipts. The old record was set for the first Liston - Floyd Patterson fight at Chicago, Sept. 25, 1962.

Preliminary estimates were that Liston would get more than $1,300,000 for the night's disappointing effort and Clay about $800,000.

Fight Pictures Here Tomorrow

For those who missed the closed-circuit television showing at Memorial Arena, and also for those who will want a second look at what happened Tuesday night, the complete pictures of the Cassius Clay-Sonny Liston heavyweight fight will be shown at the Atlas Theatre starting tomorrow night.

The Atlas Theatre reported yesterday that the entire round-by-round picture story will be shown along with the most important action in slow motion.

The pictures are due to arrive tomorrow afternoon and there will be three showings on Friday night and live on Saturday. Times of the showings are not known yet but will be announced as soon as possible. Interested fans may get the information by telephoning the theatre on Friday evening or checking the theatre advertisement in Victoria papers.

Clay Ready to Quit After Fourth Round

By JOE REICHLER

MIAMI BEACH, Fla. (AP)—The new heavyweight champion of the world, Cassius Clay, said Wednesday he almost quit the fight because of part blindness two rounds before scoring a spectacular seven-round technical knockout over Sonny Liston.

CHARGES 'TRICK'

The brash youngster, the self-proclaimed greatest fighter in the world, openly charged the enemy camp with employing "some kind of a trick" which caused him intense pain and impaired vision throughout the fifth round Tuesday night.

"It happened in the middle of the fourth round," Clay said at a press conference held at Convention Hall. "I felt something burn my eyes and my face. It came off Liston's glove or head, I don't know which."

"I couldn't see. My eyes were on fire. My face was burning. When I got to my corner, I couldn't see nothing. I started out of the ring. I wanted Angelo Dundee, my trainer, to cut the gloves off me. But when the bell rang, he pushed me out into the middle of the ring."

Clay, blinking throughout and constantly wiping his eyes with the back of his gloves, kept out of Liston's way during the fifth round. He held off his heavier and harder swinging opponent with a long left arm, which he held out stretched, using it somewhat like a long pole, instead of as a weapon.

"I was some kind of a trick they had planned. It had to be. On any other fighter but me it would have worked."

"I couldn't see anything and I knew if he hit me he could knock me out. I'm human."

"I'd rather quit than so that the people would know the reason. If I went out there and got knocked out, they would think it was an alibi."

MAKES DENIAL

Liston and his adviser, Jack Nilon, disclaimed the use of any foreign substance.

"I didn't know he couldn't see," said Liston, who wore dark glasses while holding his own press conference several hours later. "Apparently he could see very good. He stayed away from me."

Nilon said referee Barney Felix approached Liston's corner at the end of the fifth round to check on Sonny's gloves.

"The referee smelled the gloves, then wiped them off," said Nilon. "Other than saying he had been sent over by Clay's corner, he didn't say anything."

Angelo Dundee acknowledged he had asked the referee to check Liston's gloves but was inclined to regard the entire thing as an unfortunate accident.

HE'S GOT FAITH

"I honestly feel nothing was wrong. Just an unfortunate thing. I know those guys. They wouldn't pull such stuff. It might have been sweat or it might have come from dirt on Liston's glove."

"But there definitely was some caustic substance in Clay's eyes. I rubbed it off, put it on my face and it burned like the devil."

Dundee confirmed that Clay wanted to quit.

Only Ingemar Fails to Nod

Ingemar Johansson, the one-time Swedish heavyweight champion who took two beatings from Floyd Patterson after knocking him out, is not one of Cassius Clay's admirers.

"Personally," Johansson wrote in the Stockholm Aftonbladet, "I got the impression that it was not Clay who won but that it was Liston who lost. I do not consider Clay a worthy world champion."

TICKED OFF

However, Johansson was almost alone among the former champions and other heavyweights who were quoted. And Johansson was ticked off by Swedish newspaperman Bertil Hansson in the Stockholm Expressen.

"I do not think Johansson would have a chance against Clay," Hansson wrote.

In Ottawa, ex-champion Jim Braddock, who had predicted Clay would have a chance if he could last the first five rounds, said that Clay "has shown he is not just a windbag. He can really fight. I think he won three of the six rounds, Liston two and one was a draw."

In Hamburg, ex-champion

Max Schmeling also had words of praise for Clay although a bit disappointed with the action.

"I was pleasantly surprised by the boxing qualities of Clay," he said, "but I was disappointed in the lack of drive by two opponents who apparently didn't have the will to destroy although both had been insulting each other with words for weeks."

In London, British champion Henry Cooper, hauled from his bed to a television studio at 6 a.m. to watch the fight, gave Clay full marks and discounted any suggestion that the fight was fixed.

"No world champion is going to throw a world championship away," said Cooper. Clay made Liston look slow. He is a good fighter, this Clay."

SOLID BACKING

Ex-champion Rocky Marciano said that Clay "fought a real good fight" and was backed up by Gus D'Amato, former manager of Floyd Patterson.

"He fought the perfect fight," D'Amato interjected. "He did everything right."

say is that after Clay's wretched performance at the weigh-in and Liston's almost useless defence of his title there is much more to be investigated before a sound opinion can be given. It was not really Clay who deceived us, but Liston."

Reg Gutteridge of the London Evening News talked about the way trainer Angelo Dundee pushed Clay back into the fight for the fifth round — one in which Clay claims he was half-blinded by liniment from Liston's gloves — and added that Clay produced "the most incredible, walking - pace round ever witnessed in a championship affair."

"Clay looked as though inviting an end to his misery by patting Liston's head and lolling carelessly on the rope. Yet the Kentucky kid was only three missteps away from capturing the richest crown in sport."

In Italy, the Milan Corriere d'Informazione headline over the entire front page read "Clay won: A scandal?"

La Notte, also in Milan, was more explicit. It termed the fight "a farce" and added: "We refuse in the most absolute way to believe that there has not been a 'pastetta' Italian slang for fix."

"We must really become convinced, unfortunately, that in the United States, boxing is only business and nothing more."

Manning went on: "All I can

Peter Wilson of the London Daily Mirror was among those who gave Clay full marks.

"Cassius Clay was right—he is the greatest. At the Convention Hall he stopped talking, started fighting and did what he has been screaming for months he would do—become the new heavyweight champion of the world."

George Whiting, writing in the London Standard, agreed with Wilson. "Hard luck on Liston? By all means. But let us get one thing straight. This red-hot world championship victory by the Louisville Lip was no fluke accident."

In Denmark, boxing writers hailed Clay's victory as one of the biggest sensations in boxing history.

"More support"

The B.T., Denmark's largest newspaper, flatly excluded the possibility of a fixed fight, stating that "Manny will talk about a fix but that campaign of hatred into which it had all been blown up and Sonny Liston's demonstrable injury give proof to the contrary."

In Stockholm, Bertil Hansson called Clay's victory as one of the biggest sensations in boxing history.

"Clay," he wrote, "showed himself to be a miracle of vitality and displayed technique that I would not have thought him capable of."

Playoff Spots Set In Victoria League

Safeway Canadians scored the season's first shutout in the last game of the Victoria Hockey League schedule at Memorial Arena last night, blanking Suburban Mercurys, 2-0.

Canadians, who finished in first place, will meet Mercurys while Cougars take on Dorham Cavaliers in semi-finals. Cavaliers beat Cougars, 7-3, last night.

Semi-finals were originally set as best-of-three series, but because time is running out they may be switched to sudden-death games next Wednesday.

PORT ALBERNI—Nothing, it seems, can keep curlers away from the Alberni Valley Curling Club this season.

It started with an outstandingly successful ladies' bonspiel. Then came the 12th annual men's bonspiel last weekend which saw more than 15 rinks turned down as the committee decided to stick to the original limit of 48. Now it is the annual mixed bonspiel, and more than 20 rinks had to be put on the waiting list to stay within the limit of 48.

In a switch from past seasons, male skips will be allowed to this event with one of the two necessary distaff curlers having to throw either third or skip rocks.

AT THE 19th With Harry Young

A South Carolina doctor has come up with a theory that may knock the 19th hole out of business.

Dr. William W. Vailleton of the Medical College of South Carolina says that golfers who drink a bottle of beer before, rather than after, their round of golf, will play better.

A bottle of beer at zero hole improves a golfer's "convergence tone," which the doctor explains as the affect on a person's ability to see sharply and judge distances.

One of the Florida courses is trying out Dr. Vailleton's theory by supplying its members with a round of beers before they tee off.

Final results of the survey are not in, but it is said the participants are enthusiastic about the experiment.

Competitive golf in Zone 6 (Upper Vancouver Island) gets under way Sunday, March 1, at Qualicum Beach with the playing of a button competition.

This year the Zone 6 members have decided to change their method of buttons play from a weekly—or semi-weekly—event to one which will be played twice each year. Difficulties of travel in this scattered zone are responsible for the change of policy.

Zone 6 clubs—Alberni, Chemainus, Comox, Duncan, Nanaimo, Powell River and Qualicum—are invited to enter as many teams of two as they wish for this new button competition.

Gold buttons will be presented to the team with the low gross best-ball score and silver buttons go to the handicapped winners. These buttons will be held by the winners until the fall buttons are played on Oct. 18, also at Qualicum.

F. O. Wilander of Comox has been appointed new president of Zone 6 with Reg Harwood of Chemainus again acting as secretary.

Owing to the absence of Ron MacLeod, Dr. George Bigelow teamed up with his old partner Laurie Carroll to give a great display of birdie golf in the open district buttons at Gorge Vale.

The new-old Victoria club team trounced Laurie Kerr and Mike Kolb of Colwood by 6-5, recording an eight-under-par total for the 13 holes played.

Carroll, who is about to sever his connection with the Oak Bay club shortly, was at his best form. He had birds at the first, sixth, seventh, eighth, ninth and 10th holes, and would probably have had another at the 11th if his doctor partner had not beaten him to it.

In addition to his bird at the 11th, George was also sub par at the fifth and 12th holes where the match ended.

Moke Morgan, a newcomer to senior golf, continued a successful senior buttons inauguration in partnership with Clarence Mitchell. The Gorge Vale pair beat Rev. Harry Pike and Jim Dalziel of Colwood at the 17th at Colwood.

Morgan and Mitchell were met Glenn Coffey and John Sturdy of Victoria Club at Gorge Vale.

times. And it is significant that in the two seasons prior to this one, with Speidel retired, Athletics won exactly nothing and interest in basketball sank with them.

But this season Athletics got back into the Inter-City Basketball League. They had Speidel back to coach, Neil Dirom and Doug Brinham to build a team around, and a promising bunch of youngsters to fill it out.

It proved to be an explosive combination.

Rarely has such a high-powered basketball machine been on display in the Dominion, even when Athletics won the Canadian championship in 1955. Lethbridge Brothers were a powerhouse a few seasons back, but they were a conglomeration of the nation's top players rather than a team.

No other club in the inter-city league possessed the scoring balance of the Athletics, particularly after the arrival of Sig Kuehn in mid-season and the return of Larry Lehtonen for playoffs.

Harlem Nocturnes had Billy Joe Price and Little else. Mike Potkonjak was more than half the McGavin club, IGA had little but John Kootneko and Hunter Candlish, and Victoria's Haida Chiefs could call on only Norris Martin, Darrell Lorimer or Pete Simmonds for consistent scoring.

OLD FORMULA

When Speidel took over he stressed that Athletics would go back to their old winning formula—speed and conditioning. Their fast-break attack was the most fast-breaking in the league, and it broke open many a game in the late stages.

Dirom, Kuehn, Brinham, Lehtonen and Denny Gladieva were all consistent scorers, taking turns in topping the club in any one game. They also had Marv Johnson, a B.C. high school all-star last season who came on to take the senior league's rookie award.

Dirom and Brinham both made the league all-star team, and Brinham was named the team's most-valuable player.

PERFECTLY TIMED

Speidel brought his club along carefully, and had it at its peak for the playoffs. After beating the Chiefs, 3-1, in the semi-finals, Athletics whipped IGA four straight, averaging 105.7 points per game in a series Speidel described as "Antidramatic" after the games against Chiefs.

At the moment, Athletics don't know where they go from here, since the Canadian Basketball Association has not yet decided whether or not to send a team to the Olympic Games.

If an Olympic team is to come out of the Canadian championships, Athletics can strengthen with as many players from this league as they choose. If it is to be only a Canadian final, they can pick up two players.

YEN FOR PETE

Speidel's top choices are Simmonds, Potkonjak and Kootneko. Simmonds, 6'3" and a strong rebounder, averaged 17 points per game in the league schedule and 24 points in playoff games. He and the 6'2" Kootneko are both the aggressive type player Speidel favors, and fine outside shots.

Potkonjak, although hampered by bad knees most of the season, was back in his old form in the late stages and is also an asset on the boards.

Law Stars In Defeat Of Lisbon

MANCHESTER (AP)—Manchester United defeated Sporting Club of Lisbon, 4-1, here last night in the first leg of a European Cup Winners' Soccer Cup quarter-final.

Dennis Law scored three of Manchester's goals and Bobby Charlton the other.

In other quarter-final matches played Wednesday, Inter of Milan beat Partizan of Belgrade, 2-0 in Belgrade, and Glasgow Celtic of Scotland downed Bratislava of Czechoslovakia, 1-0, in Glasgow.

All three matches were opening games of total-goal series, with winners advancing to the semi-finals.

Canada Plays Australia In Davis Cup

NEW YORK (AP)—Canada will play here to Australia and New Zealand will be at home to Mexico in the opening round of the 1964 American zone Davis Cup tennis matches. Both series must be completed by July 19.

The winners of the Australia-Canada and the Mexico-New Zealand series will meet in the semi-finals scheduled to be completed by Aug. 2. Chile will face the British Caribbean-Venezuela winner in another semi-final series to be finished by May 13.

The American zone final is scheduled for completion by Aug. 16. The winner will meet the winner of the European-eastern interzone matches to qualify as an opponent of the United States in the challenge rounds.

German Pair Retains Skating Title

DORTMUND (CP-AP)—Marika Kilius and Hans-Joerges Baumeier of West Germany, making their last appearance as amateurs a dazzling one, won the world pairs figure skating championship for a second successive year Wednesday night.

Olympic champions Ludmilla Belousova and Oleg Protopopov of the Soviet Union finished second and Debbie Wilkes and Guy Revell of Canada were third.

Miss Kilius, 20, and Baumeier, 22, upset by the Soviet pair in the Olympics earlier this month in Innsbruck, Austria, put on a strong display of freestyle skating Wednesday night to overcome a slight lead held by the Russian couple after Tuesday night's compulsory routines.

Last night's score: Toronto 6 at Montreal 1.
Next games: tonight—New York at Boston; Detroit at Chicago.

MONTREAL—Little Charlie Hodge put the hex on Toronto Maple Leafs again here last night as Montreal Canadiens beat them, 1-0, on a goal by Bernie Geoffrion to move into first place in the National Hockey League.

It was the third straight time that Hodge has blanked Leafs, who haven't scored a goal on him in the last 217 minutes, 55 seconds. Scores of their last five meetings, all won by Canadiens, have been 3-0, 2-1, 4-0 and 1-0. That goal was scored in the second period Jan. 29 in Montreal.

THREE POSTS

"I'm lucky, too," grinned Hodge, always steady and often extremely good last night. "Don't forget, they hit the post three times."

Leafs did have their chances all right. Team captain George Armstrong hit the post twice and Ron Stewart once. But in this first meeting with Canadiens since Leafs acquired Don McKenney and Andy Bathgate, Leafs had little to offer but more outstanding goaltending by Johnny Bower.

WELL CHECKED

Coach Toe Blake of Montreal threw his third line of Ralph Backstrom, Claude Provost and Dave Balon against the new first line of Bathgate, Red Kelly and Frank Mahovlich, and they held it well in check.

Canadiens enjoyed a big edge in play, but Bower kept it close. Geoffrion's goal came midway in the second period, when Jean Beliveau dug the puck out of the corner and fed it to Geoffrion, standing to one side of the crease.

PORTLAND (AP)—Designs for a sports stadium covered by a gigantic dome 300 feet high, the $23,500,000 project would insure dry conditions for football, baseball, track and other events, making the dome adjustable for opening in fair weather was mentioned.

The commission said it hoped the matter would be submitted to voters. Supporters of the project have suggested a bond issue.

The stadium is designed for an initial seating capacity of 46,730, with expansion to 60,000 permanent seats and a capacity of 80,000, including temporary bleachers.

Preserved in Winter Gumbo

A mild winter has made everything turn out all right for farmer Albert Doney. A wet October turned the potato fields on his Mount Newton Crossroad farm to gumbo so he could not harvest the crop. But he and his men were out yesterday digging up the potatoes, 180 bags of them, which he said are "just as firm as if they'd been inside." (William A. Boucher)

I Was Wrong, Inquest Told

Doctor Should Not Have Operated, Says Chief Surgeon

By JOHN LEBLANC
TORONTO (CP)—The chief surgeon at Toronto East General Hospital said Wednesday he had doubts about the competency of Patricia Morgan's personal physician when he allowed him to undertake the Oct. 18 operation that led to her death.

Dr. Burns Plewes, head of surgery since 1947, said at a coroner's inquest he now considers he was wrong in granting permission to Dr. Kenneth A. Brown, even though he assigned his top assistant to the operation in a "watchdog" role.

Miss Morgan, 32, died Oct. 4 and an autopsy blamed her death on a surgical clamp left in her intestines after the operation. Failure of medical and hospital officials to report the death to the coroner's office led to a special inquest ordered by Attorney-General Fred Chas after the victim's family discovered the cause of death.

PLEWES

"Every surgeon worth his salt who enters the abdominal cavity has nightmares for fear he has done just this," the white-haired surgeon said. But he conceded Mr. Hoolihan was correct about a misadventure. However, there was no criminal act or intent to harm.

Asked who he would consider responsible for reporting the death, Dr. Plewes said it might be the attending physician (Dr. Brown) or a permanent member of the hospital staff or "anyone connected with the case who felt he should report it."

At the hospital notified the coroner was to protect the reputation of the hospital," Mr. Hoolihan said.

Dr. Plewes, who intervened personally in Dr. Brown's operation and had him discontinue a proposed dissection to remedy a stomach-intestinal blockage after the patient began to bleed heavily, told the inquest he had had doubts of Dr. Brown's competence for about two years and had regularly assigned him one more than the usual single assistant.

He now would not permit him to operate again and, after the operation and before Miss Morgan died, had obtained his agreement not to try to operate at East General again.

Dr. Plewes and the two operating room assistants in the Morgan operation also gave testimony directly contradicting Dr. Brown's earlier evidence on several points in the case.

Dr. Plewes denied Dr. Brown's suggestion that he was discouraged from taking post-operative x-rays, which might have disclosed the leftover instrument, because he should not try to "play God" in the treatment of Miss Morgan's supposedly incurable cancer.

BROWN

Brown on treatment of Miss Morgan after the operation, had not barred x-rays and would have had no objection to someone else operating on the woman or to having her removed somewhere else for an operation by Dr. Brown.

Dr. Anthony T. Varga, the East General's senior resident and a surgical specialist who was assigned to the operation by the head surgeon, described as "untrue" Dr. Brown's statement Tuesday that Dr. Varga had replaced him involuntarily during the operation.

responsibility for an instrument check by being replaced.

Dr. Varga said he did not take over the operation but that Dr. Brown completed the work in the interior and handed him the needle and suture only after he had sewn up the incision in Miss Morgan's abdomen until only about three inches were left open.

He also said Dr. Brown had inadvertently damaged the woman's spleen—it was later removed to control bleeding, cut into arteries running between the spleen and stomach and pierced a section of the upper intestine.

Dr. Varga said Miss Morgan's life was in danger by the time he called in Dr. Plewes, who ordered the original operation discontinued. The spleen removed and the incision closed.

Dr. Varga denied Dr. Brown's claim that the resident left the operating theatre to get Dr. Plewes just as the arterial bleeding commenced. He had just turned his head and sent a nurse.

Dr. Brown's contention was never been consulted by Dr. that he had yielded up any re-

Gibson Plan Millions More For B.C.

By JACK FREY
B.C. could have an income of $300,000,000 more than its entire budget of about $400,000,000 if it puts a new timber plan into effect, says millionaire lumberman Gordon Gibson.

Oil helped Alberta, but B.C.'s timber is an even greater asset, the Liberal MLA for North Vancouver told the legislature yesterday.

"We would be the richest place in the world if this policy were put into effect," he said.

Unbelievable? Maybe—but it apparently helped turn the four Gibson brothers into millionaires.

In a deal 25 years ago, the Gibsons paid the Sutton Lumber Company of Seattle a nominal stumpage for timber in the Metchosin Arm area of Vancouver Island's west coast.

"We put in all the machinery and paid all the costs of taking out the logs." After cost of the equipment was paid off, "we split the profits and it was a very fine working deal."

SIMPLE PRINCIPLE

The Gibson Plan presented to the legislature, based on this simple principle, envisaged an annual income of $800,000,000 to B.C.'s treasury.

Get "about 20" large companies the size of MacMillan, Bloedel and Powell River Limited to build $2,000,000 or $4,000,000 conversion plants during the next 10 years.

Profits at first would go toward writing off the principal, accumulated interest, taxation and depreciation.

"After that, all the profits would be divided 50-50, to the public of B.C. and the people who put up the money," said Mr. Gibson.

Major Senior Boer War Veteran Dies

A Boer War veteran and an honorary member of the Royal Canadian Legion, Major Charles Kennedy Senior, 84, died in a Victoria private hospital Feb. 12.

Funeral services will be held Friday at 11 a.m. in the Thomson and Irving Funeral Chapel with the Rev. Canon R. K. Sampson officiating. Cremation will follow.

Major Senior was born in England and came to Victoria 30 years ago.

He is survived by a sister in England.

Shorelines Watched

Premier Bennett said Wednesday his government has its eye on large timber firms that might be holding shoreline properties in hopes of subdividing them for quick profits.

John Squire (NDP-Alberta) had suggested during discussion of finance department estimates that some large firms are paying less in land taxes than the $50 a foot being paid by cottage owners in parts of Vancouver Island.

Lake Area

Garbage Dump Angers Citizens

Prospect Lake and District Community Association is planning to take action against conditions at the city-Saanich garbage dump on Hartland Avenue.

The group's executive met at the home of Don Sanford, vice-president, to consider fire hazard, pollution and rat problems caused by the dump.

The community association is particularly concerned about whether there is any connection between operation of the dump and contamination of lakes in the area.

THREE PETITIONS

Meanwhile, housewives in the Prospect Lake area were counting signatures yesterday on three petitions protesting against conditions at the dump.

Complaints of rats, seagulls dropping litter, and water pollution because of litter at the district dump, prompted groups of housewives to collect signatures of angry residents.

60 SIGNATURES

Mrs. Vivien Sanford, 4975 Prospect Lake Road, and Mrs. Joan Travers, 205 Meadowbrook, collected more than 60 names on a door-to-door canvass in their neighborhood. While at Prospect Lake Store and Lakeside Store, two other petitions on display netted around 120 signatures between them, this week.

"We have not yet decided when or to whom our petitions will be presented," said Mrs. Sanford. "But we aim to try and get something done about the shocking condition of the garbage dump."

'Yield' Urged Downtown

Some Stop Signs Going?

Use of "Yield Right-of-way" signs instead of stop signs at selected Victoria intersections will be recommended by the official traffic commission.

Ald. Cecil Parrott, acting chairman of the advisory body, said yesterday it had decided to adopt the proposal by Ald. Geoffrey Edgelow.

WESTERN STATES

Ald. Edgelow said earlier that yield signs are extensively used in most western states. He suggested it would "make sense" to use them instead of stop signs at four-way stop intersections.

The commission, however, turned down a further proposal by Ald. Edgelow that Rose Street between Topaz and Hillside be made a temporary one-way southbound artery during the morning rush hour.

INVITE TROUBLE

The decision was unanimous, Ald. Parrott said. The commission felt placing of temporary signs on a section of multi-lane highway has been proven feasible elsewhere but it would invite trouble to try a similar move on this section of Rose Street.

The commission was also informed "wait-walk" pedestrian crossing signs at downtown intersections had been adjusted

Illusion Expert Performs Here

A well-known author of books on magic, Dr. Eugene Gloye of Whittier, Calif., was among those who did tricks at a recent guest night of the Victoria Magic Circle.

Dr. Gloye, also known as an inventor of illusions, is an associate professor of psychology at Whittier College, Calif.

Store Looted

Ten cartons of cigarettes and three boxes of chocolates were stolen in a break-in at the Maples Store, Benvenuto and West Saanich Road, Central Saanich, overnight Monday.

Old-Style Ride Only One of Many Hobbies

There's nothing like a horse and cutter for drive on Craigflower Road. Mrs. Doris Ganton, 1209 Rockcrest, brought long-time family friends, Lucky the mare and Patch the calm-spaniel, from Eastern Canada when she moved to Victoria with husband

John, Pacific Naval Laboratory scientist. Mrs. Ganton made cutter and had wheels attached. Her other hobbies are ham radio, skiing, swimming and judo.—(George Gibson)

Mister Goldilocks Sails Out Window

A young man who was taking a nap last night in the bedroom of a home owned by Mr. and Mrs. Henry Kneen, 3214 Market, jumped out of bed and out the window when Mrs. Kneen walked into the bedroom. Police searched the area but were unable to locate the casual sleeper.

March 16 Rally Vital

Downtown Facelift to Be Outlined

Some 150 local businessmen will be asked March 16 to back with action the city's proposals for beautification of downtown Victoria.

Ald. A. W. Toone, chairman of the city council committee handling the project, said yesterday "the importance of this meeting can't be over-emphasized."

FIVE PHASES

It will outline the comprehensive plan drawn up at city hall for the new five-phase downtown paint-up program and also explain proposals for pedestrian malls and other improvements planned for the city centre.

"We've never had a program so complete as the one that has been drawn up for this purpose," the chairman said. Despite all the efforts of city hall staff, however, the success of the program depends upon the response of the tenants who occupy stores and offices and downtown property owners.

Council is taking "a positive stand" in promoting the downtown improvements, Ald. Toone said, and is providing the funds needed for the campaign.

"I'm convinced," the chairman said, "that if downtown Victoria is to remain alive and economically healthy, this program we have drawn up is a key factor."

MARCH MEETING

The March 16 luncheon meeting will be held in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

The plan as a whole including selection of 32 harmonious colors on which the paint-up scheme is based will be outlined.

At a smaller meeting, about two weeks later, specific plans for a pilot scheme in the lower Government Street tourist area will be explained in detail to the businessmen in that section.

12,000 Plates Await Buyers
No Extensions!

Victoria's motor vehicle licence branch yesterday reported "a good week's business" with Saturday — the last day for licence renewal — looming close.

"Our volume of business has been slightly higher than last year," said a department spokesman, "but the flow has been pretty steady."

All wickets were open at the department and, for last-minute licence buyers, the office will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

"People who operate cars without renewing their licences after Saturday will be prosecuted," said the spokesman. "There will be no extension for anyone."

He estimated another 12,000 people have yet to buy their new licences and said: "If people come sooner they won't have to wait too long."

Two-Year Pact

Strikers Offer Settlement Plan

Striking unions at the three main B.C. shipyards have presented management with a proposed settlement, calling for a two-year contract with a total 30 cents in wage increases.

David Chapman of Vancouver, chief negotiator for the unions, said last night that the unions expect to receive an answer from management about next Monday.

THREE COMPANIES

He said negotiators for management told the unions' five-man spokesman committee that management negotiators will meet Friday with the heads of the three companies involved. The companies are Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrow's in Victoria and Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver.

The contract proposed by the unions yesterday would be a two-year contract with a wage increase of 15 cents each year.

Other provisions would be a three weeks' annual vacation after 10 years' service, a welfare plan Mr. Chapman said would be equivalent to one cent an hour, and double time for overtime.

At yesterday's meeting in Vancouver with B.C. government chief conciliation officer Reg Clements, the companies were represented by T. R. Watt of a management research firm and J. W. Thompson, personnel manager of Burrard.

FOLLOWED SUIT

About 1,400 employees of the two Victoria yards went on strike Feb. 5 and about 650 workers at Burrard Dry Dock followed suit the following day. The workers belong to 22 unions.

Before the strike began the unions rejected, and then management accepted, a unanimous conciliation board award calling for a three-year contract with annual hourly wage increases of 10 cents, eight cents and 10 cents.

The board's proposal also called for welfare provisions including three weeks' vacation after 12 years — estimated at about two cents an hour.

Paper Drive

The 2nd Fort Victoria Scouts will hold a paper drive Saturday between 9 a.m. and 12 p.m. in the area bounded by May, Richardson, Cook and Moss Streets.

Week-Long

Science Fair Coming

Victoria's third annual science fair, scheduled for March 28 to April 4, is one of 24 regional fairs to be held in Canada for student exhibitors.

The fair here involves high schools and is sponsored by the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association (science teachers) Hudson's Bay Company, Oak Bay Kiwanis Club and The Daily Colonist.

The fair will be staged in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay store.

DOUGLAS ROOM

Entries in the district fair will be chosen from individual fairs held in district schools.

A number of awards will be presented and the finalists will compete in the Canada-Wide Science Fair in Montreal April 24-25.

TWO CATEGORIES

Finalists will be chosen in two categories, biological science and physical science.

A boy and a girl will receive special awards, a trip to the International Youth Science Forum to be held under the patronage of the Duke of Edinburgh in London Aug. 5 to 18.

No Offer on Bus Service

Premier Bennett declined yesterday to make an offer of continued subsidies for Victoria-Vancouver bus service.

Bus service formerly operated in these areas by the BCE became a B.C. Hydro responsibility after the company was expropriated by the government.

B.C. Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said the premier over, was raised in the legislature by B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Mr. Perrault said the premier should make "a clear statement in the House this afternoon" on the unsettled question of what will become of the bus service in 1967.

"The Premier would welcome any overtures by the cities and municipalities involved, with a conference including the B.C. Hydro and the government," said Mr. Bennett.

Opposition Tees Off On Ferry Service

Only Parents 'Qualified' To Teach Sex

Only parents, who are spiritually and emotionally involved, are qualified to teach sex to their children, a Victoria mother said.

Mrs. W. G. Smith, of 1525 Amelia, said that the practice of teaching sex in schools, as it has proved in Sweden, is damaging.

"It's too involved," she told the Colonist.

"Sex teaching requires special people and those people are the parents. If they can't do it they should ask for help."

She said that help should come from qualified people.

ALBERT PICHEL

Seen in Passing

Albert Pichie checking a fire extinguisher. (A caretaker at Sanscha Hall, Sidney, he lives at the hall. In his spare time he likes watching hockey and reading.) ... Al Playfair dropping his $50 rod and reel overboard while trying to save his hat from a gust of wind ...

Jim Haskins waving to a new client ... Roger Marquis nursing a broken ankle suffered while pursuing a deliveryman he was trying to tip ... Tony and Audrey Barton picking up a friend ... Jenny Ochester borrowing a book and lending a book ... Len Bland concluding a deal.

B.C. government ferry service was a target of the opposition in the legislature yesterday.

John Squire (NDP, Alberta) said people on Vancouver Island are concerned about lack of adequate service and the cost of service. He suggested a $5 fare should include both car and "passenger."

EVERY WEEKEND

David Stupich (NDP, Nanaimo-The Islands) suggested lower fares during the middle of the week would help reduce ferry overloads which he said are occurring "almost every weekend."

Earlier in the session, he suggested some fare concession be given to carloads of people, so families could travel more frequently.

Mr. Stupich wanted to know whether the government is considering midnight sailings between Victoria and Vancouver, and the possibility of implementing a Gulf Islands inter-island service which does not use the Swartz Bay terminal.

NO ANSWERS

Premier Bennett said in reply, "I have no answers to give at this time."

Tony Gargrave (NDP, MacKenzie) said a superstructure could be built at the ferry terminals so passengers could enter at the second deck level and not have to use the automobile ramp.

LIEUTENANT-GOVERNOR AND GIFT

Everybody Sang Happy Birthday To Mr. Pearkes

Leaders of all three political parties in the legislature wished a happy birthday to Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, who was 76 years old yesterday.

Premier Bennett, who extended greetings on behalf of "all the citizens of our province," said in the House that "no lieutenant-governor has ever excelled the qualifications of the present lieutenant-governor."

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan recalled that Mr. Pearkes in his earlier days as a politician "trounced me roundly" in an election. "He is an outstanding lieutenant-governor and I hope he is with us for many years."

B.C. Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said "We wish him many more birthdays to come."

Earlier in the day, the lieutenant-governor officiated at the opening of the 15th B.C. Natural Resources Conference at the Empress Hotel.

The 130 delegates sang Happy Birthday and presented him with a special Noranda rock desk set.

Mr. Pearkes, a First World War hero, was born in Walford, England, on Feb. 26, 1888. He homesteaded in Alberta, served 2½ years with the Royal North West Mounted Police in the Yukon, and enlisted in Victoria as a private in the Canadian Mounted Rifles which went overseas during the war.

He was wounded in action five times, won the Victoria Cross and was awarded the French Croix de Guerre.

One secret which makes fish taste good like a fish dish should be to avoid overdoing it. Fish is naturally tender and requires just a minimum of cooking. Baking in a hot oven is an excellent method to achieve the best results, for both temperature and time can be controlled well this way. And cod filets are no exception to the rule. Baked cod with relish dressing proves it. Parsley-buttered potatoes add eye appeal to this fine platter of fish.

Bread Between Filets New Sandwich Twist

Here's a new twist on the sandwich—and it's a dinner dish at that. This time the bread's the filling. "sandwiched" together with cod filets. Virtually waste-free, this fish from the cold Pacific is one of our most economical sources of the protein so necessary to our daily health in building and maintaining body tissues. And when you cook cod filets as directed in the recipe for baked cod with relish dressing, the fish is moist and flaky, just as nature intended it to be. Pickle relish, lemon rind and juice add special spark to the basic bread dressing and are a real complement to the truly good flavor of cod that's been baked in a hot oven for the briefest of cooking periods.

BAKED COD WITH RELISH DRESSING

Two pounds fresh or frozen cod filets; 1/2 cup butter, margarine or salad oil; 1/2 medium onion, finely chopped; 3 cups soft bread cubes; 4 tablespoons sweet pickle relish; 1/2 teaspoon finely grated lemon rind; juice of one lemon; salt and pepper; 1 tablespoon salad oil or melted butter.

If fish is frozen, let it thaw in refrigerator first. Preheat oven to 425 degrees Fahrenheit (hot). In 1/2 cup butter, margarine or salad oil, saute onion until soft.

Mix in bread cubes, pickle relish, lemon rind and half of the lemon juice; toss lightly. Season to taste with salt and pepper. Grease shallow baking dish; place half of cod filets in single layer in bottom of dish.

Sprinkle lightly with salt. Cover with dressing mixture; place remaining filets on top. Brush top with one tablespoon salad oil or melted butter; season with salt and sprinkle with remaining lemon juice. Bake in preheated hot oven, allowing about 10 minutes per inch total thickness of fish and dressing combined, until fish will flake easily when tested with a fork. It should still be moist. To serve: If desired, surround baked fish with parsley-buttered boiled potatoes. Makes four to six servings.

Rules For Fish

During Lent, fish will no doubt appear often in your family meal planning. Tender, juicy, flavorful halibut and salmon filets and steaks are simple to prepare, if you just remember the following rules:

- Cook fresh fish only 10 minutes per inch thickness, at a high temperature. Unlike meat or poultry, fish has little connective tissue, and therefore requires only brief cooking.
- You do not need to thaw frozen fish, except when necessary for ease in handling. Simply cut into serving-size portions, and allow 20 minutes cooking per inch thickness.
- When baking, cook in an oven preheated to 450°.
- Fish is cooked when it loses its translucent appearance and becomes opaque.
- Test with a fork: It should flake readily, and be easily pierced.
- Serve immediately while piping hot and juicy.
- Garnish with sprigs of parsley, lemon slices or quarters, crisp raw vegetables such as tomatoes or cucumbers, or canned fruit.

Consomme Adds Flavor

A can of consomme, fresh or frozen filets, a little seasoning and a very hot oven, that's all that's needed to produce a most unusual platter of fish that's long on flavor and short on cooking time. Depending on the variety of fish filets used—cod, haddock or sole are especially good—Quick Fish-Consomme Dish takes less than 10 minutes to cook, even less time to get ready for the oven!

Just arrange the filets in a greased shallow baking dish. Sprinkle them with salt and a pinch of thyme and basil, then a little minced onion or chopped green onions. Dilute canned consomme with equal quantity of water—one 10-ounce can is about right for 1 1/2 to two pounds of filets—pour on enough of the liquid to barely cover the fish.

Bake uncovered in a preheated very hot oven (450 degrees Fahrenheit) until fish will just flake easily when tested with a fork, allowing about 10 minutes per inch thickness of fish. Serve the pan liquids as a savory sauce with the fish.

SARDINE-CHILI TIDBIT

Spread chili sauce on toast strips which have been lightly brushed with sardine olive oil. Top each with two whole sardines and sprinkle over grated cheese. Broil until lightly browned. Serve piping hot with beverage.

Casseroles Good For Lent Dishes

A long-time boon to home-makers, the old-favorite casserole is newly emerging as a glamorous dish.

Casserole crockery, ranging from brightly stenciled cast-iron to heat proof porcelain, is now available in a variety of attractive and inexpensive designs. If you're lucky enough to own some of these attractive housewares, be sure to show them off during Lent.

Some of the most delicious Lenten casseroles are based on the popular penny-saver, B.C. Pink Salmon, and excellent nutrition buy the year round. The following recipe for Seashell Salmon suggests a large shell-shaped casserole, or individual shell-shaped ramekins—but it's equally delicious served from a plain glass casserole.

SEASHELL SALMON

One can (7 1/2 oz.) B.C. Pink Salmon; 1/2 cup butter; 1 cup cottage cheese; 1 tsp. salt, 1/4 tsp. pepper; 3 eggs; 1/2 cup flour; 1 pkg. frozen peas, cooked as directed; 2 1/2 cups liquid (milk plus salmon liquid); 1/4 cup diced pimiento; 3 cups cooked seashell macaroni.

Drain salmon and save liquid. Flake salmon. Melt butter. Blend in flour and seasonings. Slowly stir in milk and salmon liquid, mix until well blended. Heat mixture, stirring till it thickens. Remove from heat. Stir in salmon and remaining ingredients. Pour into buttered casserole. Sprinkle with paprika. Bake at 375 degrees for 25 minutes. Four to six servings. Cost: about 17 cents per serving.

RHEUMATIC PAIN

Caramel Custard Simple to Make

For the man in the kitchen, desserts often present a problem—there is always the problem of co-ordination and timing. Of course the good old stand-by dessert using ice cream with the addition of a liqueur is always useful, for example, chocolate ice cream with a small quantity of cognac poured over it will titillate any palate. But there are some menus which require a dessert perhaps just a little more on the bland side and here are two recipes which are simple to make and which can be made well ahead of time.

POTS DE CREME AU CHOCOLAT

(Makes 4 servings). 2 cups heavy cream, 3 teaspoons sugar. (Preheat oven to 325°F). 4 ozs. sweet chocolate (melted), 3 egg yolks.

Heat cream and sugar in the top of a double boiler, over boiling water. Stir until the sugar has dissolved.

Add the chocolate and stir until the mixture is blended.

Beat the egg yolks and pour the hot cream over them a little at a time, stirring constantly.

Pour the mixture into cream pots or individual heatproof dishes. Place the pots in a pan with about one inch of hot water and bake in the 325° oven until firm, or about 15 minutes. A knife blade inserted into the cream should come out clean. Chill and serve.

CARAMEL CUSTARD

(Makes 5 servings). 1/2 cup sugar, 3 eggs, pinch of salt. (Preheat oven to 350°F). 2 cups scalded milk, 1/2 tspn. vanilla extract.

Heat one-half cup of sugar in a heavy skillet stirring constantly until the sugar melts, is free from lumps and turns a light caramel in color. Use a wooden spoon. Pour a spoonful of syrup into each custard cup and allow to stand and cool slightly.

Beat the eggs with the remaining sugar and the salt. Add the scalded milk slowly and stir. Add the vanilla. Strain the mixture and pour slowly into the custard cups so as not to disturb the caramel. Place the cups into a pan with hot water (the level of the water should be almost level with the top of the cups) and bake for about 40 minutes or until a knife blade inserted in the custard comes out clean. Remove the cups from the water and chill. Run a knife around the edge of the cup, turn out on to a plate and serve. Top with whipped cream if desired.

Both of these recipes are simple to prepare and make quite elegant desserts. Short-bread served with either dish is a welcome addition. Bon appetit!

The Fontana Sisters of Rome, made famous by their richly beaded ball gowns, now try a new switch with this creation, centering interest on the legs via the same beading and embroidery. The sparkle, the glitter and lustre give way to provocative flesh as the bare back of the gown is framed in a "V" by black silk faille.—(Gino di Grandi)

Balmy Weather, Pretty Clothes Bring Spring to Show Audience

It was spring in Victoria yesterday!

The balmy weather and delightful new fashions modelled at Club Sirocco was proof enough for some 300 guests at the afternoon showing of Symphony of Spring Fashions sponsored by Victoria Symphony Society Women's Committee.

Femininity, the word in fashion this spring, was carried out in the lovely textured coats, the smart two and three-piece ensembles, the perky hats and the exquisite ball gowns, all from the fashion floor of T. Eaton Company. Even the shoes sported the new cut-out look so popular in today's fashion footwear.

Unusual color schemes such as pinks with orange tones as seen in the casual campus two-piece outfit; blue and green in the cotton two-piece shift for the younger set, were expertly combined. Shocking pink to pastel pinks were predominate colors in many of the fashions, although mint green, pale lemon yellow, turquoise and white were not overlooked.

Special hit of the show was a cotton summer shift, reminiscent of the flapper days, with candy pink and black striped top styled with low, low waistline, and attached to short white skirt... just right for beach wear.

Sporty look was achieved with the slender-skirted suede suit in soft russet tone topped by an imported black leather hat in new "natty" shape.

Reminder of summer days to come was the casual white drip-dry sleeveless frock with pleated skirt. A jaunty straw brette in bands of navy and white completed the ensemble.

Another popular outfit was the gold linen redingote, slashed boldly from hem to hip showing the silk shift dress in paisley print which was worn underneath.

The lovely ball gowns ranged from a buttercup chiffon floor-length model, to a fetching "sugar and spice" pink chiffon for the college co-ed, and a deep turquoise peau de soie for the more mature figure.

Bridesmaid gown of blossom pink in short bouffant skirt style and the corded whispering taffeta bridal gown with full sweeping chapel train, climaxed the show.

Helen Belines was fashion commentator and Cecily Collins, fashion co-ordinator. Models were Joan Thompson.

Beryl Davidson, Linda Gower, Maude Parks, Rosalie Wright, Amber Massey and Penny Tisdall.

Mrs. Jack Barracough, president of women's committee, opened the show.

Mrs. Gerald Neely was general convenor. Mrs. J. S. Gayfer was in charge of tickets and Mrs. A. J. T. Laundry, publicity. Mrs. H. Thirwall and Mrs. A. Bern were tea conveners, assisted by Mrs. T. Mayne, Mrs. R. Webster, and Miss Madge Compton.

AMY

By Mace and Tippit Kiss or Blow

"I have orders for six peanut butter sandwiches, four jelly and ten lemonades... can we fill it?"

It's All the Same

TORONTO (CP)—A passionate kiss and a painful blow can cause equal stress—wear and tear—on the human body, according to Dr. Hans Selye, 58, director of the Institute of experimental medicine and surgery at the University of Montreal.

"Stress is not always due to something bad, nor is it always bad for you. Stress is the rate at which we live at any one moment," said Dr. Selye, internationally known authority on the effects of stress on the human body, in a summary prepared for the Royal Canadian Institute.

The text, which Dr. Selye did not read during an address to the institute, emphasized that stress "cannot and should not be avoided."

"The art is to learn how to live a full life with a minimum of wear and tear," Dr. Selye said. "All machines wear out to some extent during use and the human body is no exception." He said each person must find his own "innate stress level" and live accordingly. Compulsory inactivity may cause more stress than normal activity.

"The frustrating frictions of fighting the unavoidable and the effort to perform tasks beyond our capacity are the greatest sources of wear and tear, but the stress of using our mind and muscles within the limits of their capacities is healthy, pleasant and, indeed, indispensable to keeping fit," Dr. Selye said.

Evelyn Hughes Weds G. M. Hill

Evelyn Ruth Hughes became the bride of Mr. Glenn Michael Hill at a pretty evening wedding in St. John's Anglican Church.

Rev. Canon George Biddle performed the double-ring ceremony for the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. S. R. Hughes, Barnberton, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Hill, Vancouver.

Given in marriage by her father the bride chose a floor-length gown in train of white satin with lace panel front. The fitted bodice featured scooped neckline and hilly point sleeves. Her six-tier veil of silk illusion net misted from a peau de soie rose. She carried white feathered carnations and red roses.

Red rose brocade sheath style gowns and matching whimsies were worn by matron of honor, Mrs. J. Greig, the groom's sister, bridesmatron, Mrs. J. Hemsworth, and bridesmaid, Miss Linda Thompson. They carried bouquets of white carnations with red hearts.

Flower girl, Miss Karen McCleave was in a bouffant skirted frock in red brocade and red bandeau with small white flowers. White carnations were in her colonial bouquet.

Mr. Barrie Clark was best man. Mr. D. Greig and Mr. C. Thompson were ushers.

Mr. Fred Higgs proposed the toast to the bride at a reception at Chez Marcel.

Quick Trick With Lemon

Lemon juice adds an extra spark of flavor when it's sprinkled over fillets of sole along with salt and pepper before they're breaded and fried. This quick trick is a favorite of leading hotel chefs. Another master touch that puts these delicate-tasting fillets into a very special class is to add a liberal dash of paprika to the flour you use for pre-breading. It helps produce a richer, deeper color in the crisp coating.

Ann Landers

Dear Ann Landers: My father died when I was a child. My mother, in her attempt to be both mother and father, never allowed me to make a decision. When I tried to do something on my own, things always seemed to turn out badly. Mother never failed to remind me that "next time" I should listen to her.

I grew up feeling hopelessly addle-brained and incompetent. Today, even though I am the mother of four children, I still torture myself over whether I bought the right dress yesterday. Maybe it should have been the given one. Or did I say the correct thing at the PTA meeting? Perhaps I should have remained silent.

The point of my letter is this: The quality I most admire in your column is the very quality which is woefully lacking in myself—the ability to get to the heart of a problem, make a quick decision and never look back. How do you do it?—MRS. MAYBE.

Dear Maybe: Thanks for the compliment, but those "quick decisions" represent more hours than I care to admit. The reply that sounds totally effortless is the one I struggled with all day.

You are right about never looking back, however. I do my level best with each reply. Then I close the door and go on to the next one. Post-mortems are for coroners—not columnists.

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a man with a problem. My wife is 37 years old. We have three lovely children. Everything is fine, except that my wife has lost interest in sex.

She is a wonderful wife and mother, gets along fine with my family and the neighbors. Everybody thinks she is a grand person.

I tried to talk to her about this problem last week. She said she loves me as much as ever, but she'll soon be 40 and sex is for younger people.

Do you think some thing might be wrong with her physically? She goes to the doctor every year for a check-up and appears to be in excellent health.

I have heard of a sex potion that pepes up men when their sex appetite fades. Is there something similar on the market for women? Please advise me.—BILL.

Dear Bill: Any doctor will tell you that the vast majority of men and women who lose interest in sex at a relatively early age (and 37 is early) have mental problems, not physical problems.

"Sex potions" are phony. The only person who benefits is the one who sells it. And, of course, it helps him only financially.

Jail Looms for Bachelors

OTTAWA, Ill. (AP)—For residents of Ottawa, the next and wackiest holiday is Leap Year Day when a man may be jailed for being unmarried.

The single ladies take over this northern Illinois city of nearly 20,000 persons Saturday, Feb. 29, for the once-in-a-quadruple event.

Miss Joyce Hayne, a secretary in the accounting department of Ottawa Silica Co., will be mayor for the day. The role falls to her as president of the Ottawa Junior Women's Club.

Other girls will become police chief, judge, fire chief, city prosecutor, and city councillors. After that, the male population must watch its step—and its pocketbook.

This year, the girls are raising funds for a new mobile rescue unit.

Contributions are collected in open court from men who are summoned by dainty arrest notices.

The summonses went into the mail Wednesday.

"Those who don't come in voluntarily will be arrested and brought to court," said Dorothy Bender who was mayor four years ago.

Six Hours for Bennett One Hour for Finance

Premier Bennett got his salary and office vote at 5:10 p.m. yesterday after six hours and five minutes of legislative debate which started Tuesday. One hour and seven minutes later the House passed his estimates as finance minister. Estimates for the premier's office totalled $69,521, up from last year's $66,749, and included his $17,500 salary but not the $6,000 extra he receives as an MLA.

EXECUTIVE ASSISTANT

Increases in his office estimates included $901 a year more for William Budd his executive assistant, who now gets $13,380 a year, and a similar increase to the similar level for the still unfilled position of economic research assistant.

Finance department estimates of $47,389,984 were up $1,000,000 from last year.

As the House rose the premier announced it will deal first today with the budget estimates of the agriculture department and, if they are passed, with the attorney-general's estimates.

U.S. Nazis Picket Play —It's 'Anti-Catholic'

NEW YORK (AP)—About 150 persons, including 14 uniform-wearing members of the American Nazi party, demonstrated outside the theatre where the play The Deputy had its American premier Wednesday night. Police quickly stopped one scuffle.

The play asserts that the late pope Pius XII failed to speak out in condemnation of Hitler's mass murder of Jews.

The followers of George Lincoln Rockwell, the U.S. Nazi leader, carried placards reading: "Deputy is hate—this is a hate play—this play is anti-Catholic."

One spectator rushed the pickets. He was joined by some others, but police quickly restored order.

Two other demonstrating groups objected to the play, but another favored its showing, saying freedom of speech should not be impaired.

In Europe, The Deputy caused much commotion when it played there. Some spectators jumped on stage to attack the performers in Paris.

Tutankhamun Treasures Going on Canada Tour

OTTAWA (CP)—The Tutankhamun treasures, part of the richest archaeological find of this century, will go on exhibit at the National Gallery of Canada March 5 after an extensive circulation in the United States. External Affairs Minister Martin will officially open the exhibition in the presence of Ambassador Abdel Hamed I. Seoud of the United Arab Republic. It will be on view here until April 5. The Egyptian antiquities, unearthed with the 1922 discovery of the tomb of the boy King Tutankhamun, who reigned from about 1351 to 1343 B.C., were exhibited at the Montreal Museum of fine arts for one month until Feb. 25.

Play Sellout in Toronto

Burton a T-Shirt Hamlet

TORONTO (CP)—John Gielgud's bare-bones production of Hamlet opened a four-week run in Toronto Wednesday night at the O'Keefe Centre to a packed 3,200-seat house.

Richard Burton, whose publicized friendship with screen star Elizabeth Taylor has made the play an attraction for non-Shakespeare fans, plays the brooding Dane.

FANS DISAPPOINTED

Miss Taylor herself was the object of a small group of celebrity-seekers who braved a wet snow before curtain time to see her enter the theatre. But the screen-star disappointed them and entered through a back door.

Although she stole the show at Tuesday night's dress-rehearsal preview, she was not seen by the opening-night audience.

PLAY SOLD OUT

The play, which has been sold out during its Feb. 26-March 21 run in Toronto, goes to Broadway late in March.

Gielgud's production is acted in rehearsal clothes without the extraneous trappings which have part of the play since it was first performed in London's Globe Theatre in 1599.

BARE STAGE

The stage is bare except for a table, a few chairs and a platform on which most of the action takes place. Actors are variously dressed in business suits or sports clothes. Burton wore black slacks and a black sweater pulled over a white T-shirt.

Gielgud has encouraged the actors to improvise with whatever comes to hand.

RAINCOAT USED

In the scene where Polonius, played by London, Ont.-born Hume Cronyn, gives his famed advice to his son Laertes about his apparel, "rich not gaudy," the father lifts the son's raincoat to display its bright red lining.

Gielgud says in a program note that the play is stripped "so that the beauty of the language and imagery may shine through, unencumbered by an elaborate reconstruction of any historical period."

Symphonies to Get Concert Grants

Premier Bennett told the legislature Wednesday grants will be made this year to the Victoria and Vancouver symphony orchestras if they provide concerts beyond their communities.

He said letters to this effect have gone out and cheques will follow. The Vancouver orchestra will receive $5,000 and the Victoria Symphony $2,500.

He had been asked by Allan Macfarlane (L. Oak Bay) whether a cultural grants council promised by a Social Credit candidate in the last election campaign will be set up by the government. The premier did not say.

Portland Paper Folds Saturday

PORTLAND (AP)—The Portland Reporter expects to print its last edition Saturday.

The three-year-old afternoon daily newspaper, started after a strike at Portland's other two dailies, said it has run out of money.

Publisher Robert D. Webb said the board of directors was convinced it probably cannot raise the $100,000 needed to keep the newspaper going to June.

Remaining as dailies will be the afternoon Oregon Journal and the morning Oregonian, both owned by Samuel I. Newhouse of New York.

The Reporter's circulation was 53,570.

Full Weekend

Spanish Ballet Tops Entertainment Bill

Jose Greco and his Spanish Ballet are at the Royal Theatre for a single performance this evening at 8:30 p.m.

This affair, doubtless quite spectacular in itself, highlights a number of other local affairs.

SPRING CONCERT

Tomorrow and Saturday evenings at 8:15, Victoria high school music classes offer a spring concert, entitled Song of the East, with Harjinder Kour in the role of the queen.

This is described as "an enchanting evening of drama and music."

Columbia Film In Town

A 10-minute color film on the Columbia River is being shown until the end of the week at the Royal Theatre.

The National Film Board production indicates the amount of power potential in the river from its start in Columbia Lake to its Pacific outlet, as well as showing the scenic beauty and the opportunity for recreation and travel in its vicinity.

TWO OTHERS

The National Film Board has two other films in Victoria which it expects to show during Education Week.

One film, Four Teachers, compares the special roles of teachers in Canada, Japan, Poland and Puerto Rico. The Teacher-Authority or Automaton deals with the danger of mass production in schools. A number of noted educators speak on the dangers facing education.

SHAW PLAY

Also Friday and Saturday at 8:30 p.m. Bernard Shaw's Candida continues at the Bastion Theatre, starring Peter Manning, Sheila Litt and John Bergbusch.

Two one-act festival entries will be presented by the Theatre Guild at the Langham Court Theatre tomorrow and Saturday evenings at 8:15 p.m.

These are Aria de Capo directed by Dorothea Hogue and The Hole directed by Bert Farr. Mary Mack's production of Thornton Wilder's The Happy Journey completes the program.

HIGHLAND MEET

On Saturday only, at 9:30 a.m., at the Club Sirocco is the Victoria Highland Games Association indoor meet. Piping chairman is Mrs. John B. Davis, the former Lillian Grant, of Victoria.

The string of attractions continues over Sunday and Monday with the pair of symphony concerts starring pianist Alfredd Brendel.

Bed of Roses Best

By M. V. CHESNUT, FRIS

In my last column on roses we dealt with the question of when to plant newly-purchased specimens; the next item on the rose agenda is to decide where we shall plant your new bushes, and there is more to this than meets the eye.

For one thing, I don't care much for the idea of tucking the old rose bush here and there in the perennial border among the peonies and delphiniums and Michaelmas daisies, for roses are anti-social creatures and prefer to keep themselves to themselves. There are exceptions, of course; the species and shrub roses are perfectly at home in any spot where you would plant any other flowering shrub—more about this later—but for the hybrid teas and floribundas, the ideal way to grow them is to establish a special rose bed.

There are good reasons for this apparent snobbishness for the feeding, spraying and pruning program for roses is quite different from other plants. The rose is known as a "dirty" feeder, too, with an insatiable appetite for old rotted manure, and when planted in among herbaceous perennials, their pockets of good stuff are promptly invaded by the roots of every cracker in the neighborhood. Moreover, the other plants grow too lush and leafy with such rich fare.

Plenty of sunshine is a must for your proposed rose site. Roses will make fairly good growth in partial shade, and may even bloom fairly well—for the first year anyway—but without lots of sunshine to ripen its wood and pack its internal cells full of nutrients, the flowers will be poor and sparse the second year, and the whole plant goes steadily downhill thereafter. Here again there are the exceptions that prove the rule, for there are a few climbing roses, notably Mermade, which will grow and bloom quite satisfactorily on a north-facing wall.

One common error is to select a sheltered position for your roses. While some of the ancestors of our modern varieties came from Persia and the warm islands of the eastern Mediterranean, this blood is intermingled with that of roses from the cold, wind-swept areas of north China, and over the years they have developed considerable hardiness. They need no protection in our climate from winter hardships; moreover, what appears to be a cozy sun-trap spot will often turn out to be too sheltered, with poor circulation of air and wind through the branches and leaves and around the bushes.

Roses planted in an angle of a fence or house wall, or right up against the house foundation or in the close shelter of a hedge will almost always suffer from poor air circulation. In such pockets where there is very little air movement, the plants will almost invariably come down with the most appalling doses of mildew on the leaves.

I don't think you can beat a site right out in the open, in full sun all day and exposed to all the elements. Pests are fewer—I think a lot of aphids and thrips get blown away—and growth is hard and woody. The leaves are tough and leathery, unappetizing to bugs and resistant to disease spores.

While roses need plenty of fresh air, though, they don't care much about a site in a narrow passage between houses, or between the house and a fence. Such a spot is usually a drafty wind-tunnel, and while roses don't mind a bit of wind right out in the open, they don't like having a steady draft blowing down the back of their neck.

The Little World of SHEILAH GRAHAM

Tracy Mends, Katie Spends

HOLLYWOOD (NANA)—Spencer Tracy is much improved, and Katie Hepburn has resumed her morning tennis. To celebrate Spencer's improved health, the devoted actress bought a puppy and a new dashing sports car.

Natalie Wood's fiancé, Arthur Loane Junior, wanted to marry her before Christmas. She postponed it to February. That date has come and gone. I wonder what is holding up her wedding?

But all is bright as a marriage bell with Marissa Pavan who is in Hollywood for some television shows, and Jean Pierre Aumont who turned up last weekend. As I told you he expects to reconcile with his pretty Italian actress wife.

Terry Thomas plays 25 roles—count 'em—in the Robert Goulet TV special with Leslie Caron. That's out. Selling Peter Sellers who also showed up during the weekend for his Billy Wilder picture, Kiss Me Stupid. Says his Lolita-looking wife, Britt Ekland, who has to make her picture in London. Britt even chews on her hair a la Lolita.

Patricia Neal's first movie after the birth of her baby, expected in April or May, will be Otto Preminger's Harm's Way. And what a line-up of stars Otto has signed—John Wayne, Kirk Douglas, Tom Tryon, Carol Lindley and Jill Haworth. In addition to Pat, Otto starts the film in the South Pacific, June 11. He plans to release it before Christmas. And that's fast.

The young manager for the Beatles, Brian Epstein, is rich in his own right. He owns furniture shops in Liverpool. Perhaps that's why he can afford to be so tough about demanding so much money for his bushy-haired quartette. Epstein turns down offers of $35,000 for half an hour's work with the greatest disdain. This is fine, as long as the Beatles keep on turning out song hits. Their first film, to start in March, will have a lot to say about their future.

It doesn't show too much yet, but Frank Sinatra is trying to change his image with the Press—some of it anyway. The whole Sinatra family, including Nancy Sinatra, are co-operating on a story to be written for a national women's magazine by George Christy. The kidnapping courtroom gymnastics were a severe strain for all of the Sinatras. I sometimes wondered who was on trial.

PETER SELLERS with new wife BRITT

Dirk Bogarde in New York to publicize his fine film, The Servant, was jubilant when it received eight British Oscar nominations. Four of the stars, including Dirk and Sarah Miles, were also nominated. Coming up for Dirk, Barbour, written by Evelyn Williams' son, Alan. And when Orson Welles heard that Dirk would star in Barbour he cabled, "Include me in."

Plug In, Castle Hums

By STANTON DEIAPIANE

Everything plugs into the house current these electrical days.

I plug into the house plug and the Old West unravels before my eyes.

"Reach for yore six-gun, varmint! Accounta I'm gonna let you draw fast, varmint! On accounta I'm the fastest gun in the west, varmint!"

In the morning, I can plug into AM or FM or the electric shaver. All at once if I like.

My beard is chopped and at the same time the vacuum is plugged in. Humming softly as the genie sucks in dust and paper clips and bobby pins.

The house current squeezes the orange juice from the orange. It beats the parakeet better. Which is cooked by the electric stove and timed by the electric clock.

The company that sells this life force is very haughty: "If this account is not paid within 10 days, we will be forced to..."

Nobody is really forcing them. Nobody is putting a pistol to their backs. It is just a way of saying, "Turn on the cheque book, Claude, or we turn off the juice."

The man at the other end of the plug is master of my fate, captain of my electrical soul.

Turn off the juice and we all stop. Like the frozen figures in the frozen castle. Awaiting the prince to come and dislodge the magic apple from the princess' throat.

I blow a chequered kiss to the magic light company. My castle stays plugged in and humming.

No matter if the popcorn pops electrically, there is some work to be done. The finest of architects always plan your house so that the plug is behind the couch. Have you noticed that?

When we plug in the vacuum, we must push the couch out of the way. On the way up, you come up under the coffee table. Bang! It is a good thing man is built with a head of bone.

Otherwise the race could not survive the plug-in life.

Some plugs are tricky. They sparkle and flash blue lights. All the lights in the house go out. You should grope your way to the fuse box and put in a new fuse. (You never have the right calibre of fuse. The one that blows is the one you don't have.)

At this time, you can appreciate what the man at the other end of the plug has been doing for you all these warm years.

The freezer unfreezes and the ice cream melts.

The washing machine falls silent. The electric fryer will not fry.

But fuse up again and the castle comes to life. The corn pops. The TV varmint is still a-reaching for his six-gun. The beard disappears and the Beatles come alive—yah, yah, yah—on the disc.

Plug in the electric blanket and the electric pad (my aching back). And so to beddy-bye and don't let the fuses blow.

'We're All We Got'

By DR. STUART ROSENBERG

Man, it has been said, is a law and a force mightier than quite unlike other creatures. They are animals of prey, while he is a praying animal.

Why does man pray? In a word: He seeks strength and understanding to gain victory in conflict.

Essentially there are three forms of conflict, each differing in character. There is, of course, first, the conflict of man with nature. The human being is a frail match for the powerful physical forces at work in the universe. He must seek to obey the laws he discovers, humbly to submit to those forces he cannot control.

Elementary wisdom dictates that he surrender his will before suicide; wars have sometimes lead to thoughts of peace.

The principal conflict facing man is, of course, his conflict with himself. As long as he remains incapable of resolving this difficulty, he will stand helpless before Nature and fearful before his neighbor.

Unceasing battles go on within the inner folds of man's mind and soul. The problems of atomic energy, of international diplomacy are real and significant. But until we conquer ourselves, no other victory is truly meaningful.

Noah, in Green Pastures said: "I ain't much, but I've got a gut." We may not be very much, in contrast to Nature's grandeur and to the imposing significance of the great world scene. Remember though: "We're all we got!"

Prayer, then, must primarily be thought of as an aid in becoming ourselves by overcoming ourselves.

Too often we pray for the unnecessary, irrelevant victory. Over others, instead of over ourselves. Prayer must begin with ourselves, as our search for our souls and as a quest for our own inner harmony.

The most thoughtful, the most necessary prayer may be summed up in a phrase: O, Lord, help me to change the world, by helping me to begin with me!

The principal conflict facing man is, of course, his conflict with himself. As long as he remains incapable of resolving this difficulty, he will stand helpless before Nature and fearful before his neighbor.

Unceasing battles go on within the inner folds of man's mind and soul. The problems of atomic energy, of international diplomacy are real and significant. But until we conquer ourselves, no other victory is truly meaningful.

Noah, in Green Pastures said: "I ain't much, but I've got it." We may not be very much, in contrast to Nature's grandeur and to the imposing significance of the great world scene. Remember though: "We're all we got."

Prayer, then, must primarily be thought of as an aid in becoming ourselves by overcoming ourselves. Too often we pray for the unnecessary, irrelevant victory. Over others, instead of over ourselves. Prayer must begin with ourselves, as our search for our souls and as a quest for our own inner harmony.

The most thoughtful, the most necessary prayer may be summed up in a phrase: O, Lord, help me to change the world, helping me to begin with me!

Airport Data In Vancouver

Victoria firms bidding on supply and installation of furnishings at the new Patricia Bay air terminal building will have to go to Ottawa or Vancouver for specifications and other documents.

"They can write to our office for them," a spokesman for the office of the regional director of air services in Vancouver said yesterday.

"We advertise the invitations to bid in all the papers," he said. "The reason we can't supply specifications at the locations of all the jobs is because there are so many of them and we don't know just how many will be bidding in each town."

Copies of specifications may be obtained from the Regional Construction Engineer, Dept. of Transport, 739 West Hastings Street, Vancouver, at $25 per set. Cheques should be made out to Receiver General of Canada and must be certified.

Victoria Nun Leads At Nelson University

Highest grades for the first half of the year at Notre Dame University in Nelson were achieved by a Victoria student Sister Mary Gonzaga of the Sisters of St. Ann.

A second Victoria student was named on the list of achievement. She is Sister Mary Lucita, also of the Sisters of St. Ann.

Other Island students on the honor roll were Linda Schmidt of Denman Island and Sharon Wenzelki of Port Alberni.

Gold Keg
the new & different taste in beer.

It looks different because it has a rich, golden-amber colour. It tastes different because it's made with a single premium variety of imported European hops. For a new and different taste in beer try Labatt's new Gold Keg.

Where Did Tallow Go?

OTTAWA (CP)—What did the Cubans do with that 11,000 tons of inedible tallow?

They paid nearly $1,000,000 for it—making it the biggest single item in Canadian exports to Cuba last year, except for the wheat and flour that the U.S.S.R. paid for.

Inedible tallow is the waste from pecking plants. Normally it is used for making soap.

But it is generally known that the Cubans have a drastic shortage of cooking oil.

Officials here say it might be possible to convert the tallow to a cooking oil.

There is no answer here to where the tallow went.

Total Canadian exports to Cuba last year reached $16,432,672 compared with $11,000,000 in 1962. While much higher, the 1963 figure is still only about half the level of exports in 1961.

Full 1963 import figures are not yet available. In the first 10 months of the year Canadian imports from Cuba soared to $11,300,000 from about $2,500,000 a year earlier—the increase being mainly more sugar at higher prices.

Among the exports, the wheat and flour that Russia diverted to Cuba ranked first in value at around $6,300,000. Some of the other leading exports to Cuba, either new in 1963 or shipped the previous year in relatively small quantities:

About $530,000 in live animals; mostly cattle; $382,706 worth of veterinary medicines; $329,000 in skim milk powder and $264,000 in cured pork; $244,000 in baby food; $273,000 worth of seed potatoes and $273,000 in meat wastes.

Other leading items included $300,000 worth of industrial chemicals, $238,900 in metallic salts, $363,000 in synthetic yarn, $122,700 in radio and TV equipment, $112,000 for textile machines and $132,000 for poultry-farm equipment, and $110,000 worth of fabricated rubber—but no tires.

General Bluffed On Weak Hand In Columbia Deal

By ARN MacKENZIE

OTTAWA (CP)—Gen. A. G. L. McNaughton made a poor poker hand go a long way a few years ago in threatening to divert the Columbia River into the Fraser for power purposes.

Details of a long-secret report, tabled in the House of Commons Wednesday, show that the general did not have much engineering evidence to back up his plan.

But, at the same time, many observers here credit that threat with some part in influencing the United States to make a key concession forming the basis of the present Columbia River treaty and protocol.

This was the acceptance of Gen. McNaughton's downstream benefit principle by which the U.S. returns half the extra power it can generate because of water storage and control on the Canadian side of the river.

ARGUES POINT

Gen. McNaughton, then chairman of the Canadian section of the International Joint Commission, argued that unless the U.S. made suitable concessions, Canada should simply divert a good part of the Columbia flow into the Fraser via the Eagle Pass.

The water would have poured through a long rock tunnel just north of Revelstoke, and swelled the flow through the Thompson, Eagle and Fraser Rivers. There would have been 11 power plants on the 400-mile run to the Fraser's mouth, said the study prepared by the B.C. Engineering Company, starting in 1953.

COST MORE

But the project would have cost more than $2,247,000,000 for gross capacity of just under 7,000,000 horsepower or 5,200,000 kilowatts of energy—and the per unit cost would have been around 7.1 mills per kilowatt-hour at Vancouver.

This compares with a substantially lower cost for production on the Columbia under the scheme now awaiting parliamentary ratification.

Soft-Shoed Snatcher Shocked?

A soft-shoed purse snatcher must have thought his foot was too hot to handle last night, or perhaps he was just shocked by his own success.

He crept silently up behind Mrs. Antonina Hryb, 1022 Pemberton, as she walked along Stanley, whipped the bag from her hand and kept on going.

An hour later the purse was found, intact, at Pembroke and Stanley. It contained $30, a cheque, bank book and effects.

Canada Won't Intervene In U.S. Labatt Action

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has advised the United States it sees no reason to intervene in U.S. court action aimed at halting the purchase of John Labatt Limited, London, Ont., by the Jos. Schlitz Brewing Company, Justice Minister Favreau said Wednesday in the Commons.

The Schlitz company was placed under a restraining order last week in a U.S. anti-trust suit.

The proposed U.S. action did not appear to conflict with Canadian commercial policy, said Favreau, who said the U.S. domestic economy, Mr. Favreau told T. C. Douglas, New Democratic leader.

Russians To Die For Fraud

MOSCOW (UPI)—Nine persons have been sentenced to death for defrauding the Soviet government of $3,300,000 through an illicit knitwear business, reliable sources reported Wednesday.

The head of the ring, which allegedly used mental patients to make knitted goods and sold them through illegal retail channels by bribing Soviet officials, received the death sentence in a separate trial.

SIX OTHERS

The sources said the ringleader, identified only as Shuberman, and six of the others sentenced to die by the Supreme Court of the Russian Federated Republic were Jews.

The trial, one of the largest held since the Soviet Union imposed the death penalty for economic crimes three years ago, was barred to Western newsmen. There was no official announcement of the court's verdict.

LIGHTER TERMS

According to the sources, a total of 24 persons were convicted as members of the ring. Four received 15-year prison sentences and 10 others lighter terms.

The sources said outsiders were barred from the two-month-long trial because bribetaking officials were identified during testimony.

Among them were former station masters of Kursk station, one of the busiest depots in Moscow. These officials received seven-year prison sentences last September for accepting $1,340 and other gifts from the Shuberman ring.

Duncan to Keep Logging Museum

DUNCAN — The Cowichan Valley this summer will have the first museum of yesterday's logging equipment in Canada when the valuable private collection of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wellburn will be moved to a new 15-acre site at the Sonoma Lake shore near Duncan.

Following an earlier announcement that the collection might be bought by the provincial government and transplanted into the Saanich area, the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce, private individuals and civic governments formed a committee to keep the collection in this area.

SOCIETY PLANNED

The present owners have agreed to keep it here. Problem chairman of the special committee David Williams said yesterday a society is being formed called the Cowichan Valley Forest Museum, and it is planned to recruit members from the general public.

The society will become the owner of the property and custodian of the museum.

Mr. Williams said: "The municipality of North Cowichan, the city of Duncan and the village of Lake Cowichan, we hope, will accept membership in the society together with members of the Wellburn family."

According to another information source, possible financial sources include the Canadian centennial grant and possible assistance from the lumber industry.

Vaccination Planned For All B.C. Horses

B.C. horse owners are being asked to co-operate in a province-wide program to have their animals vaccinated against sleeping sickness, the B.C. agriculture department announced yesterday.

Cost of the two-shot series of injections is about $3.25 and will be borne by the owner. Veterinarians have been instructed to get the program under way.

The step was announced after doctors suspected sleeping sickness in the case of a nine-year-old boy who lies in a coma in a Trail hospital.

NOT CERTAIN

Officials say sleeping sickness has not been pinned down definitely as the boy's ailment and the final answer won't be known until a virus test is completed in Vancouver.

They got on the trail of the possible source of sleeping sickness infection when it was recalled that the disease was detected in a horse in the East Kootenays last year.

FLIES CAUSE

The disease can be spread by such insects as flies and mosquitoes and the goal is to complete the vaccinations by

School 'Non-English' Rapped by Victorian

Criticism of the methods of teaching grammar is contained in an article by John Cameron of the University of Victoria faculty of education, published in the February issue of Elementary English.

In the publication of the National Council of Teachers of English, aimed at improving language and literature in schools, Mr. Cameron says too much emphasis is placed on "non-English" English that is correct but difficult to handle.

Mr. Cameron contends that the "praiseworthy" should be taken out of the English language and (the practical facts of language used).

If the textbook authors will not do this then the teachers themselves should do it, he said.

The present system calls for rigid adherence to tradition and has little in common with English as written and spoken today, he said.

Police Wage Offer Rejected in Saanich

The Saanich police union bargaining committee last night turned down an offer of a 1 1/2 per cent wage increase from Saanich police commission.

The force is seeking parity with Victoria and is at present two per cent below city rates. A Saanich first class constable earns $478 a month.

Norah On Block

VANCOUVER (CP)—The Canadian Prince, one of the best-known passenger ships on the B.C. coast, will go on the auction block.

Northland Navigation Co. announced Wednesday the Canadian Prince, the former CPR ship Princess Norah, will not return to the northern run this spring.

The ship has been laid up since last October. The new Northland Prince replaced her last summer on the summer tourist run to Alaska ports.

The ship was specially built in 1958 for the CPR for west coast of Vancouver Island service. She was the first ship built for this coast with a bow thrust propeller for operation in narrow waters.

Northland acquired her in 1959 and she operated a regular service to Prince Rupert.

Senators Get Details Of Retirement Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will propose legislation to Parliament for the retirement of senators at age 75 but present senators will not be affected.

First details of the proposed legislation, forecast in the House speech at the opening of Parliament Feb. 18, were outlined in the Senate Wednesday by Senator J. J. Connolly, new government leader in the upper house.

Senator Connolly said in the throne speech debate that senators appointed after the legislation is approved would be retired automatically at 75 and would receive a pension to which they would contribute during their years in office.

The pension would be comparable with the pension now available to a retired member of the House of Commons. Maximum pension payable to a member of the House of Commons is $9,000 annually.

Senator Connolly said present senators would have an option to retire from their $15,000-a-year lifetime appointments on or after reaching 75. He said they would receive an "appropriate pension" but gave no further details.

This provision is expected to avoid the strong protests expressed at previous sessions of Parliament over any move to retire senators who have been appointed for life. Senators argued that such a move would be breaking a contract with persons appointed for life terms.

1908 DEBATE

This position also was taken by the Senate in 1900 during debate of a government bill to fix 75 as a compulsory retirement age for judges of superior, district and county courts. Senators struck out the reference to district and county judges, arguing that a 1913 law gave the government power to retire them, at 75.

Bond Loss Or Profit?

Opposition Leader Robert Bracken said Premier Bennett was "not operating with absolute candor" in a statement in the 1963 budget.

He read an excerpt that said the province earned a profit in party bonds on the previous year while this year's public accounts showed a net loss of $648,000.

Mr. Bennett said there were also "great capital gains" and there was a $13,500,000 profit in the sinking fund.

Mr. Bracken said the premier was dodging the issue.

Counsel Argue Evidence In Attack Case

Preliminary hearing into rape charges against Larry Kenneth Kanaster continued yesterday in Saanich magistrate's court.

Yesterday's consideration of the case was devoted to lengthy argument by crown counsel Kenneth Murphy and defence counsel Alan Bigelow about whether certain evidence could be used.

The trial continues Tuesday. Kanaster is accused of raping two University of Victoria students in separate incidents.

A trip from Alberta by a 19-year-old girl resulted in the youth pleading guilty in Victoria magistrate's court yesterday to contributing to juvenile delinquency.

Louie William Dianocky of St. Albert, Alta., pleaded guilty to the charge, which specified that the pair had lived as man and wife. But court was told the girl had deplored having sexual intercourse with the youth.

Court was told that the Edmonton girl had turned herself in to Victoria police and that the two had travelled from Alberta, registering at hotels, including one in Victoria, as man and wife.

The youth was remanded to March 5 for probation report and sentence.

Boy Knocked From Bike

A 10-year-old boy was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital after he was knocked from his bicycle by a car on his way to school yesterday.

Raymond Carl Seymour, 1031 Wollaston, suffered concussion but his condition was not considered serious.

Esquimalt police said the accident occurred around 8:15 a.m. when the lad was riding south on Macaulay. The car involved was driven east on Dunsmuir by Joan M. Deminns, 1034 Wychbury Avenue. There was slight damage to the bicycle.

Two youths appeared in Victoria magistrate's court yesterday charged with the theft of a camera belonging to a Saskatchewan man and possession of the camera, valued at less than $50.

Eugene Lupkowski, 18, of 7 Princeps Avenue and Donald G. Rolph, 20, of 816 Linden, were remanded to Monday for plea.

Fire Destroys Inside Of Docked Cruiser

Fire destroyed the inside of a 40-foot cruiser berthed at McKay-Cormack shipyard around 2 a.m. yesterday, but the boat was left floating.

Capt. George Veres, managing director of McKay-Cormack, said company estimates are not expected to come up with an assessment of damage for some time.

The boat, the Romax VI, is owned by Walter Motherwell, who lived aboard.

He rented wharfage space from McKay-Cormack.

Mr. Motherwell was away from the boat when the fire broke out, and discovered the fire on his return.

Deported Man Wanted Here

A man who has been deported from Australia will find a Victoria detective waiting for him when the P & O Orient liner Oranda docks at Vancouver March 6.

Joseph Emil Calve was charged with two counts of theft by conversion—one involving $650 and the other $1,300—in Victoria in May, 1961.

He was released on $2,000 bail and that was the last Victoria police heard from him until they were notified a couple of weeks ago he was being deported from Australia. Calve will be 60 years old today.

Victoria police do not know why Calve has been deported from Australia.

B.C. Gymnasts to Meet In Victoria Tourney

Gymnasts from all over the province are expected to be in Victoria March 28 when the B.C. Gymnastic championships are to be held.

Events for the three classes, seniors, juniors and novice, will be held in the gymnasium of the Central Junior high school.

Trophies will be awarded first team and individual championships with medals for first, second and third in the senior division and ribbons for places in the novice and junior categories.

Information may be obtained from Art Burgess, physical education director at the Y.M.Y.W.C.A. in Victoria. Closing date for entries is March 21.

Another Bank For B.C.

B.C.
Won't
Alter
Plans

B.C. government officials indicated yesterday the province will have a stake in the Bank of British Columbia regardless of how many competitive banks are launched.

Word of the Lauretude bank announcement reached Premier Bennett in the legislature and he later told reporters in a corridor that it won't alter the government's plans for the Bank of British Columbia.

NO EFFECT

He said the finance company banking venture would not qualify for government purchase of shares and that it would have had no effect on his government's plans if it had been announced earlier.

The Lauretude bank wasn't big enough for that, he said. Attorney-General Bonner, who Tuesday told the legislature he fully expected more banks to establish head offices in B.C., termed the Lauretude announcement "very welcome news."

FAST MATURING

"It is additional evidence of the fast-maturing nature of the British Columbia economy," he said.

"The emergence within a few months of three responsible banks, the Bank of Western Canada, Lauretude and the British Columbia Bank, is developing a western centre of finance and producing a Canadian financial polarity."

YEARS AGO

He compared what is happening in western Canadian banking to what happened years ago in the U.S.

Lauretude's plans, he said, are further evidence that the government had chosen an opportune moment to foster a western financial centre in Vancouver.

Mr. Nyhus picked up his plates yesterday and, after he had attached No. 66-241 on the front of his car, he noticed the rear plate read 66-141—exactly 100 numbers out.
He plans to return his plates to the motor vehicles branch today.

Relief from Thumbscrew

By TERRY HAMMOND

B.C. moneylenders will be policed by the courts under sweeping legislation introduced by the provincial government yesterday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said in a corridor interview it is aimed at persons who apply "the thumbscrew."

The legislation will empower the courts to scrutinize, amend or reverse conditions of financial contracts where it is deemed the cost of a loan is excessive.

ALL FORMS

The legislation is expected to extend to all forms of loans, conditional sales contracts and instalment buying.

RELIEF ACT

The B.C. law will be called the Contracts Relief Act.

It will be administered by county courts and by the B.C. Supreme Court.

The act establishes no fixed guidelines for the courts concerning what would be considered a fair cost for a loan and what would be considered excessive.

After hearing the conditions it will be up to the court to decide what is fair and what isn't.

ABOUT YEAR

Mr. Bonner said the act is patterned on the Ontario legislation and had been under consideration for about a year.

At the 1962 session of the legislature the opposition asked for legislation which would require full disclosure of all costs in any financial contract.

HARD TO DEFINE

Mr. Bonner said his government had rejected the full disclosure concept because it is difficult to define and because it rests on the legal principle of "caveat emptor"—let the buyer beware.

It was better, he felt, "to give a person a remedy."

Under the new act, he continued, "a person in the business of applying the thumbscrew will realize that he can be brought up short."

RIGHT OF REVIEW

"What we are trying to do is give a right of review to someone who feels hard done by."

He said it would have been impossible to define limits for the cost of loans and admitted the act may turn out to be a real power for the courts.

DIFFICULT TASK

"I think, frankly, the courts will have a difficult task of adjudication," he said.

Judgments under the act will hinge on whether the court finds that "having regard to the risk and to all the circumstances, the cost of the loan is excessive and that the transaction is harsh and unconscionable."

If the court so finds, it can: ① Reopen the transaction and relieve the debtor of any sum in excess of what the court considers is fairly due.

Peace Job Short Of Skills

VANCOUVER (CP)—Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, said Wednesday the company can't get enough skilled workers for the Peace River power project.

"We have no requirement for laborers—we have a surplus of people with an education lower than high school graduation," he said.

Dr. Shrum said he expects the problem to get worse this year when Columbia River development and large projects in B.C. begin.

'White Rabbit' 62

Nazi Wounds Kill One of Bravest

PARIS (Reuters)—RAF Wing-Comdr. Forest Yeo-Thomas, 62, one of the bravest and most famous of Britain's Second World War secret agents, died in his home here Tuesday. It was announced last night.

Yeo-Thomas lived in Paris before the war and parachuted into France three times, the first to help organize the resistance under his code name White Rabbit.

This name became the title of a 1952 best-selling book about his exploits.

Friends said he died from complications of injuries he suffered at the hands of the Gestapo. After his third secret jump into France, he was betrayed in Paris early in 1944.

For four days he was continually beaten, whipped, kicked and held in ice-cold water with arms and legs chained. For two months he was questioned daily. For four months he was in pitch-black solitary confinement.

Finally, Yeo-Thomas was sent to Buchenwald death camp "to be exterminated."

A German overreer marked him dead in exchange for a promise to testify on the German's behalf after the war. Yeo-Thomas took a Frenchman's identity and was sent to a Jewish death camp as a corpse-carrying assistant.

He and 20 others tried to escape; he and nine others made it.

Yeo-Thomas won many honors, including the George Cross, Military Cross and Croix de Guerre. He settled after the war in the city he loved best but had suffered greatly for 18 months until death came.

All 11 Socreds Expected To Save Grits Today

OTTAWA (UPI)—Social Credit leader Robert Thompson is expected to deliver unanimous voting support from his party today to help the Liberal government turn back its second no-confidence motion in 48 hours.

Thompson said last night he had not sounded out all 11 members of his party but felt confident the four who voted against the government Tuesday will not do so again.

By voting with the Tories, Dr. Guy Marcoux and three of his cohorts refuted charges the party sold out to the Liberals, Thompson said.

TWO MORE

Government whip James Walker, who pulled off some clever dealing to take out a 129-129 win Tuesday, expects to have two more government members on hand this evening.

The main amendment is another Conservative motion condemning the government for failing to propose an extension of family allowances to children between 16 and 18 who are still attending school.

Dallas Double?

Oswald Wanted Nixon, Too

HOUSTON (UPI)—Lee Oswald plotted to kill former vice-president Richard Nixon, the Houston Post said last night. It had learned from an associate of Oswald's widow.

Reporter Jim Criswell quoted James Martin of Dallas, who was Mrs. Marina Oswald's business representative until a few days ago. The story said the plot against Nixon was outlined to the Warren commission investigating the Kennedy assassination.

Nixon was in Dallas the day the late president was killed.

Martin would not tell the Post how he learned of Oswald's intent to kill Nixon.

"It's part of the testimony," he said. "I can't comment on it."

Oswald also has been implicated in an attempt upon the life of former Maj.-Gen. Edwin Walker last April in Dallas.

Martin is to testify before the Warren commission today in Washington. He was dismissed by Mrs. Oswald a few days ago, reportedly upon the advice of Robert Oswald, brother of the accused assassin.

The Post did not outline when the alleged attempt upon Nixon's life had been planned by Oswald.

The Great Small Arms Caper

By DAVE MCINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP)—The great small arms caper had at least three cabinet ministers tearing their hair Wednesday.

External Affairs Minister Martin lodged a strong protest with the defence department about removal of rifles from a Windsor, Ont., high school's sharpshooting champion cadet corps. Mr. Martin represents a Windsor riding in Parliament.

Defence Minister Hellyer and Associate Defence Minister Cardin were reported to have chewed out the military for listing Windsor as a "sensitive area" from which militia small arms should be removed.

In the Commons, Mr. Hellyer said his Friday order calling in small arms to prevent them from falling into the hands of the self-styled Quebec liberation army had not been applied uniformly.

Bravely trying to swim over the tide of opposition laughter, the minister said an "obvious anomaly" was the Windsor incident.

Another, he said, was failure to remove small arms from three college cadet corps in Quebec while rifles were being taken from exclusive Ashbury College for boys in exclusive Rockcliffe, an Ottawa suburb.

Mr. Hellyer said the "sensitive areas" included in his Friday order are Quebec and adjacent regions of Ontario and New Brunswick. (Windsor is about 530 road miles from Montreal.)

Warning to Queen Probed by Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP)—Justice Minister Favreau said Wednesday he is trying to find out the exact words used by Dr. Marcel Chaput in a Toronto speech in which the Quebec separatist leader reportedly said the Queen won't be welcome in Quebec during her October visit.

Mr. Favreau was replying in the Commons to Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon), who asked whether criminal charges had been laid in connection with Dr. Chaput's statements.

Mr. Favreau said that if charges are to be laid it will be the responsibility of the provincial government.

Choice Bulls Going On Sale

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — March 10, 11 and 12 are important days for beef cattle men from Vancouver Island. They will take their choice bulls to the 46th annual provincial bull sale and fat stock show at Kamloops.

A total of 200 bulls, including 23 Aberdeen Angus, 170 Hereford and seven shorthorn, will be auctioned off by Matt Hassen and A. Stookey.

RANCH AT OYAMA

Auction chairman-manager is V. E. Ellison, Box 420, Kamloops.

Mr. Ellison, who operates a ranch at Oyama in the Olanagan Valley, last year showed his champion Hereford herd at the Cowichan Fall Fair.

The shipment from Vancouver Island will include five 22-month-old Hereford bulls from the Westholme ranch of Tom Groves, chairman of the beef cattle section of the Cowichan Exhibition.

FOUR YEARS AGO

Each of the pedigreed bulls from Westholme weighs 1,500 pounds. They were sired by Weston Marquis, which Mr. Groves bought four years ago.

The 12-year-old Patriarch is the third cross of the English blood on the farm. He was imported by Col. Victor Spencer.

In all, Weston Marquis has sired 800 registered bulls, who carry on the fine qualities on different ranches in British Columbia and elsewhere.

FEW EXCEPTIONS

Mr. Groves says, that, with few exceptions, he raises pedigreed breeding stock and at present his herd consists of 70 head, including 24 of all ages.

Other registered bulls to go to the Kamloops sale from the Island will come from Eagles Crest farm at Qualicum, Woodwynn Farm in Saanich, and Alec Turner of Victoria.

Recently members of the newly-formed Cowichan 4-H Beef Club had an opportunity to tour Mr. Groves' ranch at Westholme, and inspected the bulls destined for the sale.

UPWARD SWING

The famous auction's prices have experienced a sharp upward swing during the past few decades. At the fifth annual sale in 1923, 30 animals were sold at an average price of $156. The 46th sale in 1962 brought prices up to $721.

Cobbie Hill farmer and president of the B.C. Swine Breeders' Association, Jim Hill has returned from the third annual purbred and registered bred gilt sale at Cloverdale, after selling the six gilts.

CAME DOWN

Mr. Hill said the sale was well attended and, although prices came down from $120 in 1963, to $103 per year-old bred gilt this year, considerably more pigs were sold.

He said it would not be a good sign if prices were much higher, because lower prices attract more farmers to the sale.

Last year 14 gilts were sold and this year the total was 27. In 1962, 17 animals were sold.

ANOTHER CLUB

In March, a fifth 4-H club will be formed in this district. It will be called the Cowichan 4-H Home Arts Club, under Mrs. George Macmillan who was at one time a member of the Cedar 4-H Holstein Club.

So far seven girls have expressed interest in joining. The new club will boost the 4-H membership at Cowichan to 125.

Two Men Charged With Bootlegging

PORT ALBERNI — Three vehicles were seized and two men have been charged with bootlegging here as the result of RCMP action over the past 10 days.

Two taxicabs and a private car are being held by the police. Jacob Schafer appeared in Port Alberni court charged on four counts of selling liquor and keeping liquor for sale Feb. 16 and 23. He was remanded without plea for one week.

In Alberni, Walter Leroy Barber and Schafer have been charged, each on several counts involving liquor.

Only Parents 'Qualified' To Teach Sex

Only parents, who are spiritually and emotionally involved, are qualified to teach sex to their children, a Victoria mother said.

Mrs. W. G. Smith, of 1525 Amelia, said that the practice of teaching sex in schools, as it has proved in Sweden, is damaging.

"It's too involved," she told the Colonist.

"Sex-teaching requires special people and those people are the parents. If they can't do it they should ask for help."

She said that help should come from qualified people.

March 16 Rally Vital

Downtown Facelift to Be Outlined

Some 150 local businessmen will be asked March 16 to back with action the city's proposals for beautification of downtown Victoria.

Ald. A. W. Toome, chairman of the city council committee handling the project, said yesterday "the importance of this meeting can't be over-emphasized."

FIVE PHASES

It will outline the comprehensive plan drawn up at city hall for the new five-phase downtown paint-up program and also explain proposals for pedestrian malls and other improvements planned for the city centre.

"We've never had a program so complete as the one that has been drawn up for this purpose," the chairman said.

Despite all the efforts of city hall staff, however, the success of the program depends upon the response of the tenants who occupy stores and offices and downtown property owners.

Council is taking "a positive stand" in promoting the downtown improvements, Ald. Toome said, and is providing the funds needed for the campaign.

"I'm convinced," the chairman said, "that if downtown Victoria is to remain alive and economically healthy, this program we have drawn up is a key factor."

MARCH MEETING

The March 16 luncheon meeting will be held in the ballroom of the Empress Hotel.

The plan as a whole including selection of 32 h a r monious colors on which the paint-up scheme is based will be outlined.

At a smaller meeting, about two weeks later, specific plans for a pilot scheme in the lower Government Street tourist area will be explained in detail to the businessmen in that section.

Stockpiling Unlikely

Three Greater Victoria lumber retailers indicated last night that stockpiling here of lumber in anticipation of a woodworkers' strike is highly unlikely.

"We're not going to get panicky," said G. S. Thornbury of Shawnaig Lumber Yard Ltd. "We're going to stock in a normal manner."

No Offer on Bus Service

Premier Bennett declined yesterday to make an offer of continued subsidies for Victoria-Vancouver bus service when the B.C. Hydro franchise expires in 1967.

The issue, which has caused a great deal of concern among civic leaders in both cities since the B.C. Electric takeover, was raised in the legislature by B.C. Liberal leader Ray Perrault.

Bus service formerly operated in these areas by the BCE became a B.C. Hydro responsibility after the company was expropriated by the government.

Mr. Perrault said the premier should make "a clear statement in the House this afternoon" on the unsettled question of what will become of the bus service in 1967.

"The Premier would welcome any overtures by the cities and municipalities involved, with a conference including the B.C. Hydro and the government," said Mr. Bennett.

12,000 Plates Await Buyers

No Extensions!

Victoria's motor vehicle licence branch yesterday reported "a good week's business" with Saturday — the last day for licence renewal — looming close.

"Our volume of business has been slightly higher than last year," said a department spokesman, "but the flow has been pretty steady."

All wickets were open at the department and, for last-minute licence buyers, the office will be open 8:30 a.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday.

"People who operate cars without renewing their licences after Saturday will be prosecuted," said the spokesman. "There will be no extension for anyone."

He estimated another 12,000 people have yet to buy their new licences and said: "If people come sooner they won't have to wait too long."

Two-Year Pact

Strikers Offer Settlement Plan

Striking unions at the three main B.C. shipyards have presented management with a proposed settlement, calling for a two-year contract with a total 30 cents in wage increases.

David Chapman of Vancouver, chief negotiator for the unions, said last night that the unions expect to receive an answer from management about next Monday.

THREE COMPANIES

He said negotiators for management told the unions' five-man spokesman committee that management negotiators will meet Friday with the heads of the three companies involved. The companies are Victoria Machinery Depot and Yarrow's in Victoria and Burrard Dry Dock in North Vancouver.

The contract proposed by the unions yesterday would be a two-year contract with a wage increase of 15 cents each year.

Other provisions would be a three weeks' annual vacation after 10 years' service, a welfare plan Mr. Chapman said would be equivalent to one cent an hour, and double time for overtime.

At yesterday's meeting in Vancouver with B.C. government chief conciliation officer Reg Clements, the companies were represented by T. R. Watt of a management research firm and J. W. Thompson, personnel manager of Burrard.

FOLLOWED SUIT

About 1,400 employees of the two Victoria yards went on strike Feb. 5 and about 650 workers at Burrard Dry Dock followed suit the following day. The workers belong to 22 unions.

Before the strike began the unions rejected, and then management accepted, a unanimous conciliation board award calling for a three-year contract with annual hourly wage increases of 10 cents, eight cents and 10 cents.

The board's proposal also called for welfare provisions including three weeks' vacation after 12 years—estimated at about two cents an hour.

Paper Drive

The 2nd Fort Victoria Scouts will hold a paper drive Saturday between 9 a.m. and 12 p.m. in the area bounded by May, Richardson, Cook and Moss Streets.

The fair will be staged in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay store.

Entries in the district fair will be chosen from individual fairs held in district schools.

A number of awards will be presented and the finalists will compete in the Canada-Wide Science Fair in Montreal April 24-25.

TWO CATEGORIES

Finalists will be chosen in two categories, biological science and physical science.

A boy and a girl will receive special awards, a trip to the International Youth Science Fortnight to be held under the patronage of the Duke of Edinburgh in London Aug. 5 to 18.

Week-Long

Science Fair Coming

Victoria's third annual science fair, scheduled for March 28 to April 4, is one of 24 regional fairs to be held in Canada for student exhibitors.

The fair here involves high schools and is sponsored by the Greater Victoria Teachers' Association (science teachers) Hudson's Bay Company, Oak Bay Kiwanis Club and The Daily Colonist.

The fair will be staged in the Douglas Room of the Hudson's Bay store.

Everybody Sang Happy Birthday To Mr. Pearkes

Leaders of all three political parties in the legislature wished a happy birthday to Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes, who was 76 years old yesterday.

Premier Bennett, who extended greetings on behalf of "all the citizens of our province," said in the House that "no lieutenant-governor has ever excelled the qualifications of the present lieutenant-governor."

Opposition Leader Robert Strachan recalled that Mr. Pearkes in his earlier days as a politician "trounced me roundly" in an election. "He is an outstanding lieutenant-governor and I hope he is with us for many years."

B.C. Liberal Leader Ray Perrault said "We wish him many more birthdays to come."

Earlier in the day, the lieutenant-governor officiated at the opening of the 15th B.C. Natural Resources Conference at the Empress Hotel.

The 130 delegates sang Happy Birthday and presented him with a special Noranda rock desk set.

Mr. Pearkes, a First World War hero, was born in Watford, England, on Feb. 26, 1888. He homesteaded in Alberta, served 2½ years with the Royal North West Mounted Police in the Yukon, and enlisted in Victoria as a private in the Canadian Mounted Rifles which went overseas during the war.

He was wounded in action five times, won the Victoria Cross and was awarded the French Croix de Guerre.

PORT ALBERNI — Resolutions dealing with construction of the Comox-Alberni road, ferry fares between Departure Bay and Horseshoe Bay, and a road to bypass Parksville are among the subjects to be dealt with as Port Alberni and District Chamber of Commerce prepares resolutions for presentation at the ACCVI annual meeting in Duncan March 23 and 24.

Felix Nicholson, first vice-president, is head of the resolutions committee for the chamber.

Suggested by past-president Bill Beckingham, a study of air and water contamination will be urged, along with the matter of the use of lands held under forest management licences.

Mr. Beckingham said, when the Forest Management Act was passed it was suggested that provisions would be made for certain areas to be used for other purposes.

"Precious little use has ever been allowed in the area," he said. Mr. Beckingham suggested in many instances land could be put to a higher use for recreational, residential and industrial purposes.

Also authorized was a resolution calling for a small-boat launching ramp at Cameron Lake.

The project has been the subject of several applications to the provincial government over the past years and last year was backed by the ACCVI.

Dr. R. W. Garner said he had heard that work had started on the ramp, but he had investigated and found there has so far been no action.

Canvasser Plan Wins Approval

NANAIMO — At the Nanaimo United Appeal annual meeting Tuesday night only nine of the 16 participating agencies were represented.

Two resolutions of the outgoing executive were presented to the meeting.

One, called for limited publication and circulation to

The other was a resolution requiring agencies to provide canvassers at the rate of one for every $100 of the agency's objective. This resolution also provided that the agencies share in the funds raised only to the extent of canvassers provided. It was approved.

Red Cross representative Jim Swan said his organization would have great difficulty in getting 85 canvassers.

But it was pointed out that the Red Cross could call on youth organizations with a wide contact with the public, such as Boy Scouts and air cadets, to help.

$33,000 TOTAL

The final total collected in the Nanaimo United Appeal in 1963 was $33,000.96. Of this sum $19,053.55 was in pledges and postdated cheques.

Expenses amount to $3,940.81. This amount covered audit, conference, dues insurance, postage, secretarial services, stationery and supplies, telephone and general expenses.

Campaign costs totalled $6,272 and total distribution to the 16 participating agencies amounted to $47,434.

Directors Appointed

NANAIMO — Seven new directors were elected to the Nanaimo United Appeal Tuesday, to replace those whose terms of office had expired.

New directors are: Alex Moore, Garth Peterson, Miss Ena Young, Geoff Matthews, Chuck Wong, John Hancock, and Cecil W. Ramaden.

All other directors whose terms of office are not yet complete were confirmed in their appointments.

Senators Get Details Of Retirement Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—The government will propose legislation to Parliament for the retirement of senators at age 75 but present senators will not be affected.

First details of the proposed legislation, forecast in the throne speech at the opening of Parliament Feb. 18, were outlined in the Senate Wednesday by Senator J. J. Connolly, new government leader in the upper house.

GET PENSIONS

Senator Connolly said in the throne speech debate that senators appointed after the legislation is approved would be retired automatically at 75 and would receive a pension to which they would contribute during their years in office.

The pension would be comparable with the pension now available to a retired member of the House of Commons. Maximum pension payable to a member of the House of Commons is $9,000 annually.

Senator Connolly said present senators would have an option to retire from their $15,000-a-year lifetime appointments on or after reaching 75. He said they would receive an "appropriate pension" but gave no further details.

This provision is expected to avoid the strong protests expressed at previous sessions of Parliament over any move to retire senators who have been appointed for life. Senators argued that such a move would be breaking a contract with persons appointed for life terms.

1960 DEBATE

This position also was taken by the Senate in 1960 during debate of a government bill to fix 75 as a compulsory retirement age for judges of superior, district and county courts. Senators struck out the reference to district and county judges, arguing that a 1913 law gave the government power to retire them at 75.

Canada Won't Intervene In U.S. Labatt Action

OTTAWA (CP)—The federal government has advised the United States it sees no reason to intervene in U.S. court action aimed at halting the purchase of John Labatt Limited, London, Ont., by the J. & J. Schlitz Brewing Company. Justice Minister Favreau said Wednesday in the Commons.

The Schlitz company was placed under a restraining order last week in a U.S. anti-trust suit.

The proposed U.S. action did not appear to conflict with Canadian commercial law or Canadian commercial policy and concerned the U.S. domestic economy. Mr. Favreau told T. C. Douglas, New Democratic leader.

Together Again

Duncan Zoo owner Jim Oyen was reunited with his favorite monkey this week as he returned from a tour of northern centres with Alberta conservationist Al Oeming. (Klaus Muenster)

Monkey and Friend At Happy Reunion

By KLAUS MUENTER

DUNCAN — Chico, the squirrel monkey, is happy that his friend Duncan Zoo owner Jim Oyen is back again.

The boss is also glad to be back, after working five weeks for Al Oeming as publicity manager for the latter's wildlife film lectures in northern B.C. and the Northwest Territories.

It was the second winter that Alberta Game Farm operator Oeming asked Mr. Oyen to handle publicity for him. This time again, they found very enthusiastic audiences where they went.

In addition to publicizing the lectures, Mr. Oyen also was the custodian of Mr. Oeming's 13-year-old cheeta, and he said, "It is a strange feeling to be together with an animal which is the second rarest in the world."

Near Smithers, the cheeta was mistaken for a cougar by an Indian, who advised the two men: "It's dangerous, you shoot it and they are good eating."

A little later at Smithers the cheeta was barely saved when the same Indian came along wanting to shoot it while the two men were having lunch.

During the tour, Mr. Oyen accompanied Mr. Oeming to the latter's game farm for a few days' break and there he made the acquaintance of bush pilot Jim Anderson who asists the game farm operator by rounding up wild animals. He flies only a few feet above the ground chasing the game into large nets.

HIGH TRELL

Displaying his rare skill to the Duncan zoo operator, the pilot took him high up, and on the way down, wrote Mr. Oyen's last name in the sky.

He ended the manoeuvre by giving his passenger a thrilling ride by flying through timber very close to the ground.

Before Mr. Oeming goes to Africa this summer to get some big game for his game farm, he will hold another film lecture at Vancouver, March 26 and 27, and perhaps he and Mr. Oyen will go to Australia this fall to show the film there.

Duncan to Keep Logging Museum

DUNCAN — The Cowichan Valley this summer will have the first museum of yesterday's logging equipment in Canada when the valuable private collection of Mr. and Mrs. G. E. Wellburn will be moved to a new 13-acre site at the Ramenos Lake shore near Duncan.

Following an earlier announcement that the collection might be bought by the provincial government and transplanted into the Saanich area, the Duncan-Cowichan Chamber of Commerce, private individuals and civic governments formed a committee to keep the collection in this area.

SOCIETY PLANNED

The present owners have agreed to keep it here. Preston chairman of the special committee David Williams said yesterday a society is being formed called the Cowichan Valley Forest Museum, and it is planned to recruit members from the general public.

The society will become the owner of the property and custodian of the museum.

Mr. Williams said: "The municipality of North Cowichan, the city of Nanaimo and the village of Duke Cowichan, we hope, will accept membership in the society together with members of the Wellburn family."

According to another information source, possible financial sources include the Canadian centennial grant and possible assistance from the timber industry.

Vaccination Planned For All B.C. Horses

B.C. horse owners are being asked to co-operate in a province-wide program to have their animals vaccinated against sleeping sickness, the B.C. agriculture department announced yesterday.

Cost of the two-shot series of injections is about $3.25 and will be borne by the owner. Veterinarians have been instructed to get the program under way.

The step was announced after doctors suspected sleeping sickness in the case of a nine-year-old boy who lies in a coma in a Trail hospital.

NOT CERTAIN

Officials say sleeping sickness has not been pinned down definitely as the boy's ailment and the final answer won't be known until a virus test is completed in Vancouver.

They got on the trail of the possible source of sleeping sickness infection when it was revealed that the disease was detected in a horse in the East Kootenays last year.

FLIES CAUSE

The disease can be spread by such insects as flies and mosquitoes and the goal is to complete the vaccinations by late March before the breeding season starts.

Officials say there was an outbreak of the disease in Alberta last year and the infection could have been brought from there.

Herring Fishing Halted

Advanced spawning conditions have led to the suspension of herring fishing in the Baynes Sound area.

The federal fisheries department issued the suspension order this week, effective yesterday at noon.

The area, closed until further notice, includes the waters bounded on the north by a straight line between Longbeak Point and Union Bay, and on the south, by a line between Boyle Point and Mapleguard Point.

Pool Week Scheduled

NANAIMO — Mayor Pete Maffeo has proclaimed next week as Nanaimo Swimming Pool Week. Nat Pullen told Kiwanians Tuesday.

A drive for funds will be launched, he said, so Kiwanians could carry out the second phase of the construction of the Kinsmen's pool now under construction in Bowen Park. This phase includes building a bath house and heating and chlorinating equipment. It is estimated the job will cost $15,000, which may be reduced to about $10,000 by the donation of materials.

Bishop To Visit

Bishop Norman Gallagher, Roman Catholic auxiliary bishop of the armed forces will visit Island RCMP stations next week.

He will visit RCMP Station Holberg Monday and fly to the Comox station the following day.

The trip is part of a tour of military establishments in Western Canada.

B.C.
Won't
Alter
Plans

B.C. government officials indicated yesterday the province will have a stake in the Bank of British Columbia regardless of how many competitive banks are launched.

Word of the Lauretude bank announcement reached Premier Bennett in the legislature and he later told reporters in a corridor that it won't alter the government's plans for the Bank of British Columbia.

NO EFFECT

He said the finance company banking venture would not qualify for government purchases of shares and that it would have had no effect on his government's plans if it had been announced earlier.

The Lauretude bank wasn't big enough for that, he said. Attorney-General Bonner, who Tuesday told the legislature he fully expected more banks to establish head offices in B.C., termed the Lauretude announcement "very welcome news."

FAST MATURING

"It is additional evidence of the fast-maturing nature of the British Columbia economy," he said.

"The emergence within a few months of three responsible banks, the Bank of Western Canada, Lauretude and the British Columbia Bank, is developing a western centre of finance and producing a Canadian financial polarity."

YEARS AGO

He compared what is happening in western Canadian banking to what happened years ago in the U.S.

Lauretude's plans, he said, are further evidence that the government had chosen an opportune moment to foster a western financial centre in Vancouver.

VANCOUVER (CP) — The Lauretude Financial Corporation of Vancouver has submitted an application to Parliament for a charter to form the Lauretude Bank of Canada, president Peter Paul Saunders said Wednesday.

Mr. Saunders said that if Lauretude's application is approved the bank will have an authorized capital of at least $10,000,000. The company's assets at present are more than $300,000,000.

This is the third announcement of a new bank to be established in Canada. The others are the proposed Bank of B.C. announced by Premier Bennett and the Bank of Western Canada proposed by former Bank of Canada governor James Coyne.

Mr. Saunders said a notice of intention of the new bank will appear in Friday's Canada Gazette.

Lauretude has 14 years of experience.

Express Train

Scrape For Chou

COLOMBO, Ceylon (UPI) — Chinese Premier Chou En-lai today narrowly escaped death when his car was nearly hit by an express train.

Chou, on the second day of his visit to Ceylon, was en route to the tomb of the late premier, Solomon Bandaranaike 27 miles from here.

Five miles outside Colombo, the train disregarded signals and raced toward a grade crossing as Chou's motorcade approached.

As the motorcade was about to cross the tracks, a policeman saw the train coming and waved a red flag to halt the cars. Chou's car and the others in the motorcade braked sharply to a halt as the train thundered by.

Chou's hostess for the visit is Bandaranaike's widow, Mrs. Sirimavo Bandaranaike, who succeeded her husband as premier.

Big Ship Listing In Storm

BREST (Reuters) — The 12,700-ton British tanker Stancloud is racing today to the aid of the 10,500-ton Greek vessel Vasiliiki in distress in heavy seas off Cape Finistere on the French Atlantic coast, according to radio reports monitored here.

The Vasiliiki Tuesday night reported here cargo had shifted and she was listing badly. The Liberian tanker Atlantic Lady was standing by the Greek vessel but could not give any other assistance until the weather improved.

Nazi March on Broadway

New York opening of controversial play The Deputy, which criticizes relations of Pope Pius XII with Nazis, was picketed last night by uniformed members of American Nazi party. Stories of The Deputy and Richard Burton's new Hamlet, which opened in Toronto, are on Page 26.

All 11 Socreds Expected To Save Grits Today

OTTAWA (UPI) — Social Credit leader Robert Thompson is expected to deliver unanimous voting support from his party today to help the Liberal government turn back its second no-confidence motion in 48 hours.

Thompson said last night he had not sounded out all 11 members of his party but felt confident the four who voted against the government Tuesday will not do so again.

By voting with the Tories, Dr. Guy Marcoux and three of his cohorts refused charges the party sold out to the Liberals, Thompson said.

TWO MORE

Government whip James Walker, who pulled off some clever dealing to take out a 12-120 win Tuesday, expects to have two more government members on hand this evening.

The main amendment is another Conservative motion condemning the government for failing to propose an extension of family allowances to children between 16 and 18 who are still attending school.

Dallas Double?

Oswald Wanted Nixon, Too

HOUSTON (UPI) — Lee Oswald plotted to kill former vice-president Richard Nixon, the Houston Post said last night it had learned from an associate of Oswald's widow.

Reporter Jim Criswell quoted James Martin of Dallas, who was Mrs. Marina Oswald's business representative until a few days ago. The story said the plot against Nixon was outlined to the Warren commission investigating the Kennedy assassination.

Nixon was in Dallas the day the late president was killed. Martin would not tell the Post how he learned of Oswald's intent to kill Nixon.

"It's part of the testimony," he said. "I can't comment on it."

Oswald also has been implicated in an attempt upon the life of former Maj.-Gen. Edwin Walker last April in Dallas.

Martin is to testify before the Warren commission today in Washington. He was dismissed by Mrs. Oswald a few days ago, reportedly upon the advice of Robert Oswald, brother of the accused assassin.

The Post did not outline when the alleged attempt upon Nixon's life had been planned by Oswald.

By TERRY HAMMOND

B.C. moneylenders will be policed by the courts under sweeping legislation introduced by the provincial government yesterday.

Attorney-General Robert Bonner said in a corridor interview it is aimed at persons who apply "the thumbcrew."

The legislation will empower the courts to scrutinize, amend or reverse conditions of financial contracts where it is deemed the cost of a loan is excessive.

ALL FORMS

The legislation is expected to extend to all form of loans, conditional sales contracts and installment buying.

The way was cleared for such legislation when the Supreme Court of Canada recently upheld Ontario's Unconscionable Transactions Act.

RELIEF ACT

The B.C. law will be called the Contracts Relief Act.

It will be administered by county courts and by the B.C. Supreme Court.

The act establishes no fixed guidelines for the courts concerning what would be considered a fair cost for a loan and what would be considered excessive.

After hearing the conditions it will be up to the court to decide what is fair and what isn't.

ABOUT YEAR

Mr. Bonner said the act is patterned on the Ontario legislation and had been under consideration for about a year.

At the 1962 session of the legislature the opposition asked for legislation which would require full disclosure of all costs in any financial contract.

HARD TO DEFINE

Mr. Bonner said his government had rejected the full disclosure concept because it is difficult to define and because it rests on the legal principle of " caveat emptor " — let the buyer beware.

It was better, he felt, "to give a person a remedy."

Under the new act, he continued, "a person in the business of applying the thumbcrew will realize that he can be brought up short."

RIGHT OF REVIEW

"What we are trying to do is give a right of review to someone who feels hard done by."

He said it would have been impossible to define limits for the cost of loans and admitted the act may turn out to be a real power for the courts.

DIFFICULT TASK

"I think, frankly, the courts will have a difficult task of adjudication," he said.

Judgments under the act will hinge on whether the court finds that "having regard to the risk and to all the circumstances, the cost of the loan is excessive and that the transaction is harsh and unconscionable."

If the court so finds, it can: 1. Reopen the transaction and relieve the debtor of any sum in excess of what the court considers is fairly due.

Peace Job Short Of Skills

VANCOUVER (CP) — Dr. Gordon Shrum, co-chairman of the B.C. Hydro and Power Authority, said Wednesday the company can't get enough skilled workers for the Peace River power project.

"We have no requirement for laborers—we have a surplus of people with an education lower than high school graduation," he said.

Dr. Shrum said he expects the problem to get worse this year when Columbia River development and large projects in B.C. begin.

Red Talkers Split Over Split

MOSCOW (AP) — Soviet and Chinese negotiators are meeting in Peking in search of a basis for opening talks on border problems, diplomatic sources said Wednesday.

They indicated, however, there is a sharp disagreement already on how wide the talks should range.

'White Rabbit' 62

Nazi Wounds Kill One of Bravest

PARIS (Reuters) — RAF Wing-Commander Forest Yeo-Thomas, 62, one of the bravest and most famous of Britain's Second World War secret agents, died in his home here Tuesday. It was announced last night.

Yeo-Thomas lived in Paris before the war and parachuted into France three times, the first to help organize the resistance under his code name White Rabbit.

This name became the title of a 1952 best-selling book about his exploits.

Friends said he died from complications of injuries he suffered at the hands of the Gestapo. After his third secret jump into France, he was betrayed in Paris early in 1944.

For four days he was continually beaten, whipped, kicked and held in ice-cold water with arms and legs chained. For two months he was questioned daily. For four months he was in pitch-black solitary confinement.

Finally, Yeo-Thomas was sent to Buchenwald death camp "to be exterminated."

A German overseer marked him dead in exchange for a promise to testify on the German's behalf after the war. Yeo-Thomas took a Frenchman's identity and was sent to a Jewish death camp as a corpse-carrying assistant.

He and 20 others tried to escape; he and nine others made it.

Yeo-Thomas won many honors, including the George Cross, Military Cross and Croix de Guerre. He settled after the war in the city he loved best but had suffered greatly for 18 months until death came.

The Great Small Arms Caper

By DAVE McINTOSH

OTTAWA (CP) — The great small arms caper had at least three cabinet ministers tearing their hair Wednesday.

External Affairs Minister Martin lodged a strong protest with the defence department about removal of rifles from a Windsor, Ont., high school's sharpshooting champion cadet corps. Mr. Martin represents a Windsor riding in Parliament. Defence Minister Hellyer and Associate Defence Minister Cardin were reported to have chewed out the military for listing Windsor as a "sensitive area" from which militia small arms should be removed.

In the Commons, Mr. Hellyer said his Friday order calling in small arms to prevent them from falling into the hands of the self-styled Quebec liberation army had not been applied uniformly.

Bravely trying to swim over the tide of opposition laughter, the minister said an "obvious anomaly" was the Windsor incident.

Another, he said, was failure to remove small arms from three college cadet corps in Quebec while rifles were being taken from exclusive Ashbury College for boys in exclusive Rockcliffe, an Ottawa suburb.

Mr. Hellyer said the "sensitive areas" included in his Friday order are Quebec and adjacent regions of Ontario and New Brunswick. (Windsor is about 350 road miles from Montreal.)

Warning to Queen Probed by Ottawa

OTTAWA (CP) — Justice Minister Favreau said Wednesday he is trying to find out the exact words used by Dr. Marcel Chaput in a Toronto speech in which the Quebec separatist leader reportedly said the Queen won't be welcome in Quebec during her October visit.

Mr. Favreau was replying in the Commons to Erik Nielsen (PC-Yukon), who asked whether criminal charges had been laid in connection with Dr. Chaput's statements.

Mr. Favreau said that if charges are to be laid it will be the responsibility of the provincial government.

Downtown Building Booming

The man mainly responsible for the drive of the Victoria Downtown Business Association to prevent the "core of the city" from suffering the decay which has beset many other cities, is Archie H. Wills, the managing secretary, generally regarded as "Mr. Downtown."

Success of his activity can be seen in the proposal to build a new 15-storey building at Douglas and Courtney Streets and in the continuing faith of trust companies and outside investors as demonstrated by their willingness to buy downtown property. Latest example of this is the recent sale of the YWCA and YMCA buildings as soon as they were on the market.

"Victoria, despite her alleged reputation for lack of initiative and a desire for quiet and rest, was, as usual, alert and ready for action when the first signs of competition showed on the city limits in the form of shopping centres," says Mr. Wills.

"For six years we have labored, often frustrated, but always determined to have the downtown prepared for any competition. Today we feel we have accomplished much. If we had not acted and the city had slept on, we shudder to think of what might have happened to downtown."

UNCLUTTERED

"We have a downtown we can be proud of. We have wide, uncluttered streets, no distracting poles and wires. We have a mountain at the south end of every north-south street. We have fine stores. Our new car-parks have solved some of our parking problems and our traffic control is under constant scrutiny."

"The fact that these problems remain bothersome at times, simply means that we are constantly growing, which is something we all desire. Another 20,000 people will be living in our area within a few years," Mr. Wills said.

"Other cities, which have failed to act and face up to the changing pattern, are in difficulty. Victoria is better off and maybe that is the reason that shoppers in the downtown area are unusually courteous, even before the bargain counters. That's what makes Victoria different."
